

June's Fair Brides Can Be Beautiful On Any Budget

Beauty Rituals Can Be Shock To New Hubby

By BETTY CLARKE
(AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor)

It's a good idea to let your new husband get over the honeymoon before you begin to shock him with your beauty rituals.

Many a bridegroom has done a bit of reflecting when face to face with his bride's laundry strung up in the bathroom or from lamp to lamp in their hotel room. He is shocked further by a head of curlers, glycerine-gloved hands, feet in little socks to protect balm-clad tootsies, and chin strap—all worn to bed in the interests of beauty. As one husband put it:

"The thing I can't understand is why my wife must spend two hours a week in the beauty parlor, and then do all these things each day, plus two sets of setting up exercises."

The funny thing about it is that love really is blind. The naive fellow thought his dream girl just grew that way. He was totally unprepared for the beauty salon to be coped with in his own home.

Bridal-charm and the enchantment of a honeymoon are no accidents. The practical aspects of the wardrobe and the grooming of the bride take long hours of planning. But the bride-to-be should do as many of her large beauty chores as possible before the honeymoon, and leave the next chapter until she returns home.

The basic precept of glamor, according to our greatest beauties, is cleanliness. You can slub, nightgown, blouse, gloves, bra and panties, each day of the honeymoon, washing these things just before you and your husband leave your rooms, hanging them up carefully in the bathroom over the shower rack. When you return to your rooms, pick up your clothing immediately. Nylon is a favorite of travelers, because it washes and dries easily and needs no ironing.

If your husband suggests you have breakfast in your suite, don't try to compete with his newspaper by looking sleepy-eyed and sloppy. Make sure your appearance is particularly attractive if you want to garner your husband's attention at breakfast. The newspaper habit will come soon enough after you get settled, so try to keep his attention as long as you can.

An extra 15 minutes in the morning can give you bridal glamor, without resorting to elaborate cosmetics. Take a wake-up shower, rubbing your body with a soapy bath-brush until you tingle. Then slip into a crisp dress. There are very attractive cottons which can be worn for early-morning charm and are smart enough to go to cocktails at night with a few accessories added.

If your face has been scrubbed to a smooth shine, you will not need a foundation cream in the

WISE BRIDES SEEK ADVICE ON DECORATING

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

Newlyweds make many mistakes when furnishing a home. For one thing, they would do well to show the architect's plans or a floor sketch of room dimension to a decorator before they go ahead with building or renting a home, says Virginia Jenkins, popular New York decorator. She explains:

"Young couples often build backwards. They are going to live inside the house and not outside, and when selecting a place to live they should give just as much thought to room dimensions that will hold pet pieces of furniture, or furniture already purchased, as they do to the lines of the house."

One of the biggest bugaboos to the decorator, she says, is the "ell" shaped living room. One couple she worked with had dreamed of having two love seats on either side of a fire place, with an enormous coffee table separating the two. They also wanted a large desk between two windows. When they attempted to work this arrangement out, however, there wasn't even enough room to walk around the room. Says she:

"It is difficult to work a conversational grouping of furniture out in the average 'ell'-shaped room. But if the decorator is consulted while plans are in the making, the architect often can improve on the dimensions of the room to accommodate the furniture. Or in the case of an apartment to be rented, a more suitable one will have to be found."

Other points to be observed are whether a door is opposite a fire morning. Just powder carefully over it, removing powder from eyebrows and lashes with an oily brush. Put some lipstick and a dab of rouge on for a nice blush and be sure to blot off the excess.

FOR THE bottom layer use a 12-inch round cake pan. For the middle layer two 8-inch standard round layer cake pans (1½ inches deep). These two layers will be put together to make a middle layer of pleasing height. For the top layer use a one-pound coffee tin, a bit over 4 inches in diameter. Prepare your pans before you begin to make the cake. Brush the pans thoroughly with slightly cooled melted butter, using off the top.

Line bottoms of all pans with parchment paper or heavy wrapping paper, cut to fit.

Cut a strip of the paper ½ inch wider than the depth of the 12-inch pan and fit it around the sides of the pan. Line the sides of the coffee can in the same manner. Brush paper liners with melted butter. It is not necessary to line the sides of the 8-inch pans.

NEXT, assemble all ingredients. To make this bride's cake you will prepare the recipe twice. Measure ingredients for the two cake recipes, setting aside the measured amounts for the second baking. Don't guess. Measure accurately and carefully, using standard measuring cups and spoons.

Here is the recipe. Make it once for the bottom 12-inch tier, once for both the second and third tiers. THREE-TIER BRIDE'S CAKE 3 cups sifted cake flour

Bridal Cake Important To Any Reception

Feature attraction at any wedding reception is the cake.

Traditionally it is a delicately flavored white cake, frosted over and decorated with simplicity and charm akin to the wedding gown itself.

If you choose, a lavishly decorated bridegroom's cake may co-star as the center of attraction with your bride's cake.

Customarily this is a well-aged fruit cake, usually cut in small pieces and tucked away in fancy little boxes to be taken home by sentimental guests "to dream on."

OCCASIONALLY the two cakes are combined to make a wedding cake of the accepted three-tier variety.

In this case the small top tier is the bridegroom's cake (fruit cake) which is removed as the two bottom tiers of bride's cake (white cake) are being cut and served.

Many girls choose to buy their wedding cake, or their bride's and bridegroom's cake. But should you choose to make your own here is the recipe for the bride's cake. It is easy to do if you follow the directions accurately.

4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup egg whites (5 or 6 eggs, depending on size)
1½ cups sugar
¾ cup butter
1 1/3 cups milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
½ teaspoon almond extract
Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat the egg whites stiff but not dry. Gradually add ¼ cup of the sugar and continue beating to form a smooth meringue-like mixture.

CREAM THE softened butter until very fluffy. Gradually add the remaining sugar. Combine milk and flavoring extracts. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with the milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Carefully fold in egg whites.

Pour into the prepared 12-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 50 minutes or until top of cake springs back when pressed lightly with the finger.

Remove from oven and cool for 5 minutes before removing from pan. Invert on large cake rack. Carefully pull paper off sides and bottom of cake. Leave inverted to cool for preliminary frosting.

REPEAT the recipe. Fill 8-inch pans almost 2/3 full with the batter. Pour remaining batter (about 2 cups) in prepared coffee cups. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes or until top of cake springs back when pressed lightly with the finger.

Bachelor Party At Times May Include Bride

The bachelor dinner traditionally staged a few nights before the marriage ceremony can be your party if you so desire.

Frequently, however, this strictly stag event is given for the bridegroom by his best man and/or ushers.

It's a party that has many and varied settings, any one of which is quite proper. It can be staged at home, at a club or in a hotel.

If you honor your attendants with the party and have been living in bachelor quarters, setting the scene here will give you one last opportunity to demonstrate your culinary ability.

The bachelor dinner is like any other stag dinner party with one exception: Toward the end of the meal you will rise and propose a toast to your bride's health and happiness.

Usually the gifts for the best man and ushers are placed on the table at this party.

"Soup's On for Cupid" with this as the suggested menu at the bridegroom's bachelor dinner.

To prepare the London broil choose a flank steak of top quality beef with a good proportion of fat. A top quality steak is identified by the fat marbling.

Lower quality flank steaks have very little marbling and are not satisfactory to use for London broil. About a 2½-pound steak will serve six persons.

REMOVE membrane from both sides of the steak. Trim off excess fat and uneven edges. Score on both sides into diamond shapes by cutting ¼-inch deep into diagonal slashes.

Place the trimmed and scored flank steak in a shallow pan and pour over it a mixture of 1 cup salad oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar, and 1 mashed clove of garlic.

Cover and keep in the refrigerator 8 to 24 hours. Turn steak two or three times to absorb dressing.

AT BROILING time remove the steak, rub each side with a cut clove of garlic. Broil one side, then spread the other side of the steak with mashed blue cheese (about 4 ounces). Continue broiling until the cheese is bubbling hot and lightly browned.

Snapshots may be placed beneath the glass of a serving tray for safekeeping and decorative effect. They will form a conversation piece.

Father Needn't Break Bank To Buy Trousseau

By DOROTHY ROE
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

Today's bride needn't bust father's bankroll on a trousseau if she's smart.

The simplest wedding gowns usually are the most effective, especially for a Summer wedding, when nothing is more beautiful than crisp white organdie, with simple headress and short veil.

The wedding gown, if made at home, need not dent the budget more than $25 or $30. If bought ready-made, it need not cost more than $50 to $70. Of course, if the bride is determined to splurge, the sky's the limit, and she may choose a custom-made gown which will leave little change from a $500 check.

In addition to the wedding gown, the most expensive item in the trousseau usually is the going-away suit. This should be chosen for general wear after the honeymoon. Either gabardine or flannel in a neutral tone is in good taste and will do duty on all kinds of occasions.

A well-made, smart tailored suit should be found for around $75, or if the bride does some canny sale-shopping, she may be able to cut the figure down to $50 or less. With this should go a smart little hat, either a simple straw, matching felt or one made of flowers, which will set her back anywhere from $12.50 to $25.

Shoes, bag, gloves and blouse will add up to another $35 to $50, and about $25 should be reserved for accessories for the wedding gown.

The bride will be inclined to go overboard buying dainty lingerie, but if she is wise she can keep this budget also down to around $50, and have everything she needs. For the honeymoon and afterward, nylon underthings are the best choice, since they are easy to pack and care for.

In addition, she probably will need a smart, simple sports outfit, an afternoon dress and a dance frock. By cutting corners, she can make $100 cover the lot, including accessories.

All this adds up to about $350 for a bridal trousseau. Many girls can even cut this figure by making some things at home, or making use of things they already have. Others can double or triple it with no trouble at all. But a budget trousseau can be pretty, smart and practical.

Small chairs done in green damask pick up the sage green of the walls. The windows are draped with gray damask, and the rose-patterned rug is in pink, beige and gray. The color scheme, if rather undistinguished, is livable, warm and inviting, which is more important.

We liked the bedroom, done as a sort of den, a quiet spot for reading or study. A contemporary bed-couch, upholstered in foam rubber and covered with a nubby red fabric, is both attractive and very comfortable. The walls are done in tobacco brown, and the leaf print in the gauze window curtains picks up the deep shade. Furniture is modern, done in a beautiful pale amber finish.

Again, contemporary pieces and fabrics and reproductions of traditional pieces, live harmoniously in another setting, this a one-room apartment affair. Three of the walls are done in beige, one in dark brown, all with white woodwork. The cotton broadloom rug is in beige, the draperies are of cotton printed in a floral design—pink, coral and green, on dark brown.

Couches are covered in white, and brown striped fabric, the faint shade repeated in picture mats. One chair is done in a turquoise textured fabric, others in beige and coral textured fabrics. We liked a handsome chest of drawers whose top opens up to form a long table surface.

In another room, we admired a most original wall color treatment, with three walls done in avocado green, and a fourth wall papered in a color scheme of the avocado shade, with purple and white. Beautifully scaled-down French provincial pieces are in cherry wood, and the whole room has an airy look.

If you do any painting around the house, save your empty coffee cans. They make perfect containers for mixing paint.

NICE FURNITURE AT LOW PRICE EASY TO GET

It's always nice to see smart stores doing right by the far-from-rich customer, and demonstrating that good taste is not dependent on large expenditures. A recent model room display had the big crowd centered about rooms of moderately-priced furnishings rather than the exquisite, costly settings for which this establishment is noted.

We enjoyed one group of three rooms laid out as if they were one apartment. Like the other rooms, this series cleverly combines wood pieces of traditional design with contemporary upholstered ones.

And that's the way it is when many a newlywed couple starts to furnish. Members of the family and friends often donate handsome tables, breakfronts or chests, and then the young folk select the modern pieces that so well express their way of living.

In the layout we admired, mahogany furniture that includes a scaled-down breakfast, a chest of drawers that opens to provide a buffet face, and a small round table that extends for a larger seating arrangement suggests a nice selection for a small household that likes to entertain. The mahogany pieces look well combined with contemporary sectional units, these covered in a red tweedy material.

Small chairs done in green damask pick up the sage green of the walls. The windows are draped with gray damask, and the rose-patterned rug is in pink, beige and gray. The color scheme, if rather undistinguished, is livable, warm and inviting, which is more important.

PARTY SLATED AFTER COUPLE REHEARSE

Unless your wedding is to be a very small and simple one you'll wish to have a church rehearsal. Usually this held a day or so in advance of the ceremony.

Frequently the rehearsal is preceded or followed by a party for the wedding attendants and immediate members of both families. Though it is a customary practice, it is not an essential wedding function.

THE BRIDE'S parents may play host and hostess on this occasion. Or grandparents, an aunt and uncle, a dear friend of the family or the bridegroom's parents may give the rehearsal party (sometimes termed the bridal dinner).

It may be staged at home, at a hotel or at a club. If it's an at-home wedding rehearsal dinner then "Soup's on for Cupid" with this as the suggested menu:

place in a narrow room, whether the room is badly cut up with windows, doors and stairways and whether a room (if narrow) is wide enough for your sofa and end tables—all points which will make decorating a problem.

Another decorating point to keep in mind is not to buy pictures for walls until the home is completely furnished, advises Theodore Howell, of the New York Frame and Picture company. Mr. Howell, who is president of the 58-year-old firm founded by his father, is an old hand at advising about how to select, frame and place pictures on the walls. Says he:

"We have 1642 different shapes, finishes, designs and patterns of pictures and frames on our walls, but I always tell my salesmen not to sell them. I'd rather have the person select his own, deciding what he likes and whether it is fitted for the room in which it is to hang."

Mr. Howell says it is not so difficult as it sounds, if these things are kept in mind:

1. Decide what period your room falls into. If it is an Early American room, colonial subjects will make the best pictures. If the room is French Regency, more rococo type pictures such as costumed ladies and gentlemen are suitable.

2. After selecting the subject, be sure you like what you see. Being proper is one thing, and liking the picture is another. Buy what personally appeals to you since pictures are not changed, usually, as often as draperies and slip-covers.

3. Choose the correct frame. No matter who frames your pictures it is no more expensive to be correct. If a water color is selected, it should have a narrow moulding in silver or gilt or wood. Oil paintings need substantial, heavy, wide frames. No mats and no glass. The finest frames for oil paintings are hand carved in gold metal or gold leaf.

4. Pictures should be properly mounted (affixing the picture to a heavy board so it doesn't warp or wrinkle.) If not properly mounted, pictures can be affected by atmospheric changes.

Many newlyweds like to frame the bridal picture, and this, like other family portraits may be framed in a standing frame of either crystal, openwork metal or light finished wood. If the picture is to hang on the wall, the frame should be wood.

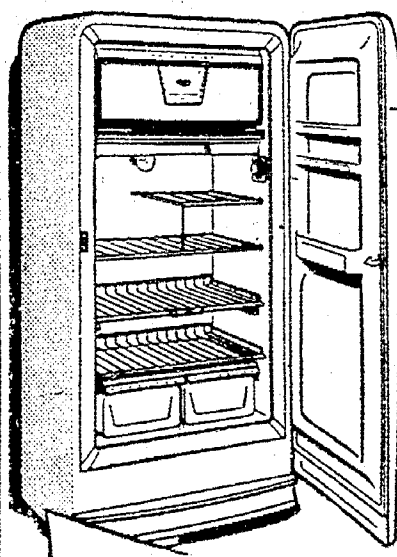

White Gown Is Symbolic; Fancy Dresses Are Taboo

The idea of a white gown for a bride is not just the result of some long-ago fashion trend. Brides wear white because it is a symbol of chastity and virtue.

Not only the gown should be made along simple lines, but all of the gowns worn by the attendants should be modest and not too bare. Colors are best when they are light.

Wash Day for Your Blankets

Blankets will be soft and fluffy minutes. A main cause of shrinkage is prolonged agitation. Spin-appetizing to moth larvae, if drying the blanket too long can cause wrinkles.

It's quite simple to do a good blanket washing job if one just remembers that the blankets are really quite fragile critters that cannot stand heat, cold, wringing or rough treatment, such as hand rubbing or prolonged action in the washer.

Choose a warm day with a light breeze, even if it means postponing another scheduled task or activity. The humidity of a hot, humid day prevents the rapid drying that is so important.

First, use a soft brush to work up soap lather into the bindings that always get a good degree of soil. Then make rich, lukewarm suds in the washtub (some folks like to use the bathtub or the job) or the machine, and only wash one blanket at a time. For hand washing, squeeze the sudsy water through the blanket by hand, or use a rubber suction-type plunger, a great effort-saver.

Don't leave blankets in washing machine longer than 2 to 4 of the blanket are exposed to circulating air. When partially dried, shake blanket and reverse on the line.

Never use clothespins. Carefully smooth the edges by hand. When dry, use a clean whisk broom to fluff up nap, and use a warm iron to smooth out binding.

Bare-Top Gown Makes Shoulder Care a Need

Before the bare-top gown be- came a fashion institution, few women gave any particular at- tention to their shoulders. If they were soft and nice, of pleasing contour, that was just dandy.

They revealed them. If not, some sort of sartorial do-dad veiled them and that was that. Now, if a girl can't display her shoulders, she feels that fate has raised a hand against it. She must then get busy and do a little remodel- ing, through massage and arm swinging exercises.

In these days of tension, the characteristic posture of the modern woman is one of tight-raised shoulders.

That pose makes the figure ap- pear rigid when it should have softness and ease. Tension is very bad for beauty, and if possible should be avoided. Release and relaxation start in the mind. Take it easy now and then. You'll get places just as fast.

WE COULD name any number of movie stars whose shoulders are pleasing in the extreme. They keep their chests lifted, never let the arms fall forward. The back- bone is extended. All of which gives lightness of movement.

If your shoulders look a bit doubtful to you, try scrubbing them with a brush when taking your bath. After rinsing and drying, apply a massage cream from your wrists to your neck, over your shoulders, back and front.

If you will let it remain on over- night, you will see that the flesh has lapped it up, that the skin is smoother and whiter. Your face isn't the only part of you that should have cosmetic care.

IF THE SHOULDERS are thin you can fill them out by cor- rective exercises. There is one that is called the winging motion. Place your fingertips on your shoulders, extend your elbows out at the sides, then flap your wings. Do as the rooster does; you don't have to crow, you know.

During these movements the elbows must be sent as far back as your can. You will be con- scious of a muscle pull down on your chest, and on your back. That turns the trick.

Protecting Eyes in Sun Important to Good Looks

We have become a nation of sun worshippers. Old Mister Sol pumps us full of vim and vitamins. But there is one catch. He can do ter- rible things to eyes that are strained and weakened by expo- sure to burning rays, the reflec- tions on water, pavements and highways.

As most of our time is spent indoors, we are accustomed to soft light. When we pass from indoor to outdoor living, our soul win- dows suffer a certain amount of shock from the brilliance of the sunlight. We need protection from glare and that protection is pro- vided by sunglasses.

These aids should not be se- lected casually. Go to an experi- enced and reliable oculist and he will be able to give you a good deal of interesting information. Lenses come in various shades and tones and certain ones may be best for you. The lenses should be large enough so that the light will not creep in at the sides.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A WASHED-UP broker in Wall Street sought to soothe his creditors by pressing sight drafts drawn on himself into their hot little hands. They were nothing more than worthless IOUs, of course, but the way the broker had them printed they looked better than a certificate for a thousand shares of U S Steel. The unschooled recipient of one of these gaudy sight drafts asked, "Just where can I go to cash this?" The broker explained airily, "It will be honored at my office any time after next Tuesday."

"Isn't there any other place I can cash it?" asked the poor creditor. The broker assured him heartily, "If you find one, my boy, we're both made men."

One of the kids at Deerfield Academy asked Washington correspondent Bert Andrews about his early days in the journalistic profession. Andrews knitted his brows, and pondered, "I believe I got my first scoop when I was four years old and yes—it was vanilla."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

New Flags Mark Graves

An American Legion project to replace the flags over war veterans' graves in Chester county cemeteries in the Pottstown area was completed yesterday. Replacing some of the more than 400 flags in the Mt. Zion cemetery are (left to right) Harry W. Wilson, commander of the George A. Amole Post 47; Ned Simpson, chairman of the Pottstown Veterans council, and Gloria Colasante, junior vice commander of the Harriet L. Kulp Post 759.

American Legion Posts Complete Task Of Replacing Flags in Chester Cemeteries

The huge task of replacing the American flags flying over the graves of war veterans in Chester county cemeteries in the Pottstown area was completed yesterday in preparation for Memorial Day observances.

Two Pottstown American Legion posts, George A. Amole Post 47, and Harriet L. Kulp Post 759, participated in the project. Members replaced the flags and many of the markers in five cemeteries and two private burial plots.

Harry W. Wilson, commander of the Amole post, said more than 400 flags were replaced in Mt. Zion cemetery alone. The flags were placed on the graves during four afternoons.

Twenty-six markers over graves of veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic also were replaced. The old markers, Wilson explained, were made of cast iron and many had been broken or had rusted through.

THEY WERE replaced by bronze markers. Both the markers and the flags were supplied by the Chester county commissioners.

Wilson, Ned Simpson, chairman of the Pottstown Veterans council, and Gloria Colasante, junior vice commander of the Kulp post, completed the work at Mt. Zion cemetery yesterday afternoon.

Previously, Miss Colasante and Anna Murgia, adjutant of the Kulp post, assisted Mahlon Frick, past commander of the Amole post, in setting out the flags and markers in other Chester county cemeteries. They placed flags over 123 graves in the Pughtown, Shenkel, East Coventry Mennonite and Knauer town cemeteries.

Frick has had charge of the Chester county cemeteries for many years, representing the Pottstown post. The Veterans of Foreign Wars have charge of the cemeteries in Montgomery county.

Area Farmer Hurt Badly as Spreader Moves Over Him

A Glen Moore RD 1 farmer was injured seriously yesterday afternoon when a manure spreader full of wood ran over him.

John Loomis, 74, was admitted to Memorial hospital with a possible fractured pelvis and lacerations of the head.

The elderly farmer was hauling wood on a rubber tire manure spreader when the accident took place about 2:30 o'clock. After loading the spreader with wood, he stooped to remove a block of wood he had under the wheel.

With the block removed the weight of the loaded spreader, which was parked on a hill, pushed the horses in motion and before Loomis could gain his seat on the front of the spreader, he was knocked down.

He told his son Frank Loomis, also of Glen Moore RD 1, the wheel of the spreader ran over him. He was pronounced in "generally good" condition by a hospital spokesman last night.

Loomis was working alone when the accident occurred.

The veteran farmer and his son Frank operate two farms, a 70-acre tract on which the father makes his home, and a 17-acre tract on which the son resides.

He was rushed to the hospital in a Good Will ambulance manned by Edward Seeders and John A. Smith.

Boy, 16, Gets Scholarship to U. of Chicago

A 16-year-old Pottstown boy who spent much of his earnings as a drug store and supermarket clerk on classical books has been awarded an $840 scholarship at the University of Chicago that will start him on his way to being a college graduate at 19.

He is Thomas Bell Rutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Rutter, 53 West Sixth street, a Junior in Pottstown Senior High school.

Next year, he will enroll as either a Freshman or Sophomore at the university, under a plan started there by Robert Maynard Hutchins, former chancellor of the university.

Under it, exceptional students are admitted to the university before completing High school.

THE "HONOR Entrance Scholarship" will be renewed annually if the 16-year-old maintains a satisfactory scholastic average.

The youth won the honor after taking special scholarship examinations at Temple university the past March. He took the exams in one 4½-hour stretch.

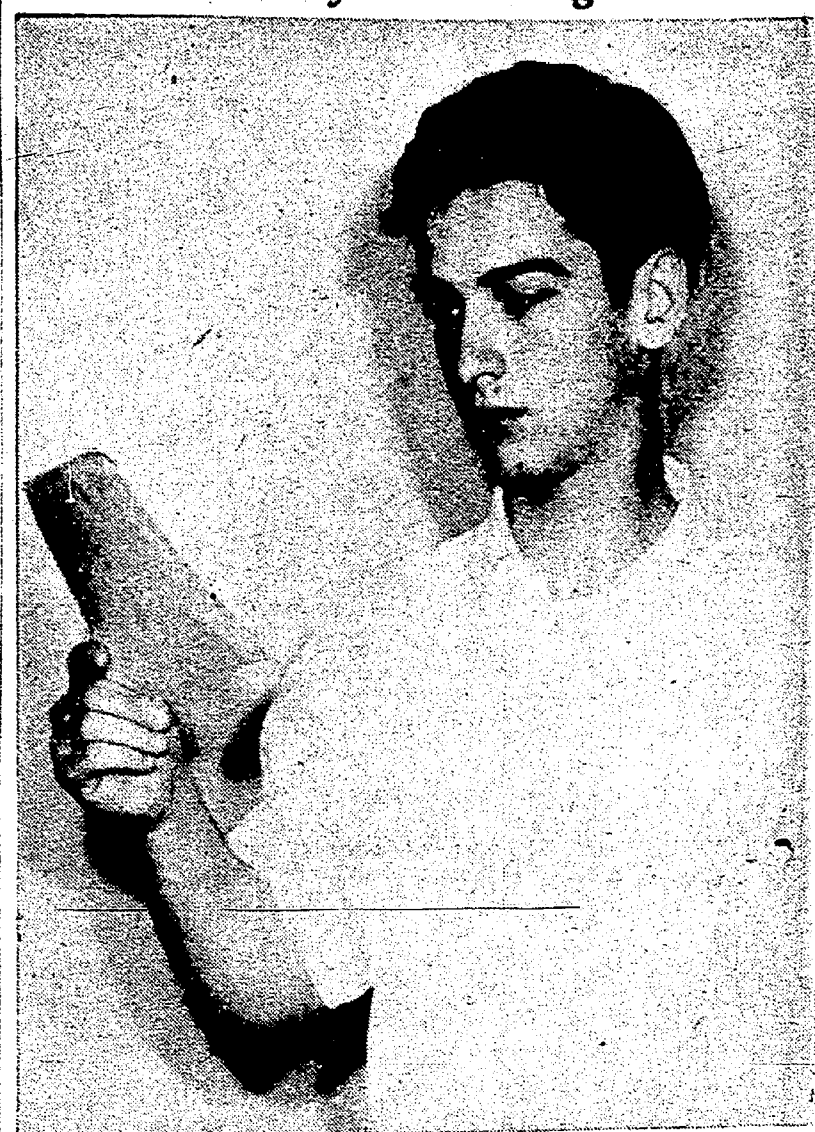

Rutter contended: "It was mostly luck that I got the scholarship—I've got to admit that."

Helping what he called luck was a background of reading in the classics that would do credit to a college graduate.

HE'S BEEN a heavy reader since early boyhood, starting out with such fare as Zane Grey Westerns and proceeding gradually to his current favorites, Shakespeare and Miguel Cervantes, Spanish novelist who died in the 17th Century.

The 16-year-old's had little time for extra-curricular activities in High school, since he works every day after school until 6 p. m., and all day Saturdays, at Acme Supermarket, Sixteen-year-old Thomas Bell Rutter (above), a Junior at Pottstown Senior High school, has been awarded an "Honor Entrance Scholarship" of $840 for his first year at the University of Chicago next year. The unusual scholarship is part of a program enabling exceptional students to enter the university without completing high school. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Rutter, 53 West Sixth street, he's only a very distant relative of Thomas L. Rutter, borough tax collector.

324 High street.

Before going to work at the supermarket the past December, he had worked at Ellis Drug store, North Charlotte and Walnut streets.

AFTER COLLEGE, he intends to be a lawyer. He's particularly interested in criminal law.

He lived on Freese's Heights, Pottstown RD 3, until his family moved to Sixth street two years ago. His father is an oilburner mechanic for John B. Hartenstein Jr., incorporated.

U. S. Airfields to Stay In England: Churchill

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today U. S. air bases would remain in eastern England "so long as they are needed in the general interests of world peace and security."

Churchill made the statement in the House of Commons. Labor M. P. former air secretary Arthur Henderson wanted to know if the Government intended to continue the air bases in East Anglia in view of the fact they made Britain specially liable for counter action by the "other side."

Kiwanians Will Tour Rubber Plant Tonight

Members of the Pottstown Kiwanis club will tour the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plant after eating dinner in the cafeteria at 6 o'clock tonight.

Kiwanian Philip H. Stephens, manager of the technical service, will conduct club members through the plant after the meal and explain the manufacturing of plastics and tires.

Area Teacher Hurt in Crash Near Limerick

A Spring City High school teacher was injured late yesterday afternoon in a car-truck collision on Upper Lewis road, one-half mile south of Limerick.

Warren R. Filer, 32, of Reading, a science teacher at the school for the past seven years, was admitted to Memorial hospital, with multiple abrasions of the left forearm and face.

The accident occurred on the section of Lewis road shaped like an automobile crank, along Lindberg terrace.

$400 Taken In Sanatoga Man's Home

A brazen thief stole nearly $400 from the home of Oliver Wittenmyer, Sanatoga, yesterday morning while members of the family were in the yard adjacent to the home.

The theft took place between 9:30 o'clock and noon.

At 9:30 o'clock members of the family came back from a trip to a nursery and placed two pocketbooks containing $35 and $45 on a table in the kitchen.

When they returned to make lunch at 12 o'clock the pocketbooks were gone and a check of the house revealed more than $300 had been stolen from the second-floor room of Marion Wittenmyer.

All the money was in cash and most of it was in bills.

THE THIEF apparently slipped into the house via a door seldom used, and first took the pocketbooks and then made his way to the second floor where he found the money in Miss Wittenmyer's room.

Louise, Marion's sister, was on the patio when the burglar made his entry. Members of the family were in the yard in back of the house from 9:30 until 12 o'clock.

Doors to the house were unlocked. The thief apparently knew the layout of the big white house which is located on Sanatoga hill.

It happened when the 1941 sedan, driven by Filer, was pinned against the south bank of the road by a heavy truck.

The truck, operated by George Molestress, Box 591, Pottstown, is owned by the Sanitary company of America, Linfield. Molestress said he was rounding the right angle curve, one-half mile south of Route 422 and was unable to keep the heavy vehicle on the right side of the road.

Filer said he was going about 35 miles per hour and was driving with caution due to the slippery condition of the road. It was raining moderately when the accident occurred.

THE INJURED man told his family he was nailed against the bank. He said he didn't have a chance to elude the heavy truck which rounded the curve on the left.

Reactions Vary For Pupils on Tour of Court

For 122 Seniors of Pottstown High school, the complexities of a courtroom unfolded yesterday.

A majority of the pupils of commercial law and problems of democracy who made the trip saw their first trial by court. Some were awed by the prolific argument of lawyers, some expressed surprise at the lack of formality and most were impressed with the friendliness of Montgomery county courthouse personnel.

Pupils were accompanied to Norristown by J. Robert Von Drach, assistant principal and teacher of commercial law, and William H. McCabe, instructor in problems of democracy.

They were divided into two groups of 61 and heard separate cases in Courtrooms B and C.

IN COURTROOM B students were briefed on the history of law and the functions of the court by Judge George C. Corson, prior to a case involving a damage suit by a hotel owner against two defendants. The hotel owner claimed his place of business was damaged by extensive dynamiting.

In Courtroom C Judge William F. Dannehower briefed students on courtroom procedure prior to a case on an automobile accident.

Pupils had to leave before they learned the results of either case. After dinner they were escorted through six courthouse offices by members of the Montgomery county Bar association.

The group, in charge of teachers McCabe and Mrs. (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Road Survey Set Here Tomorrow

Montgomery county engineers are expected to make their first visit to Pottstown for a visual survey of borough streets tomorrow afternoon.

C. O. Cooke, Montgomery county superintendent of highways and bridges, reported yesterday an initial check of borough streets will probably be made tomorrow, weather permitting.

He pointed out rain has hampered work in the county. The visual survey will include a list of estimated costs to repair Pottstown streets. The survey must precede any street bond issue.

Weather Outlook Remains Gloomy

The Pottstown area was dampened yesterday with a light rain and annoying drizzle.

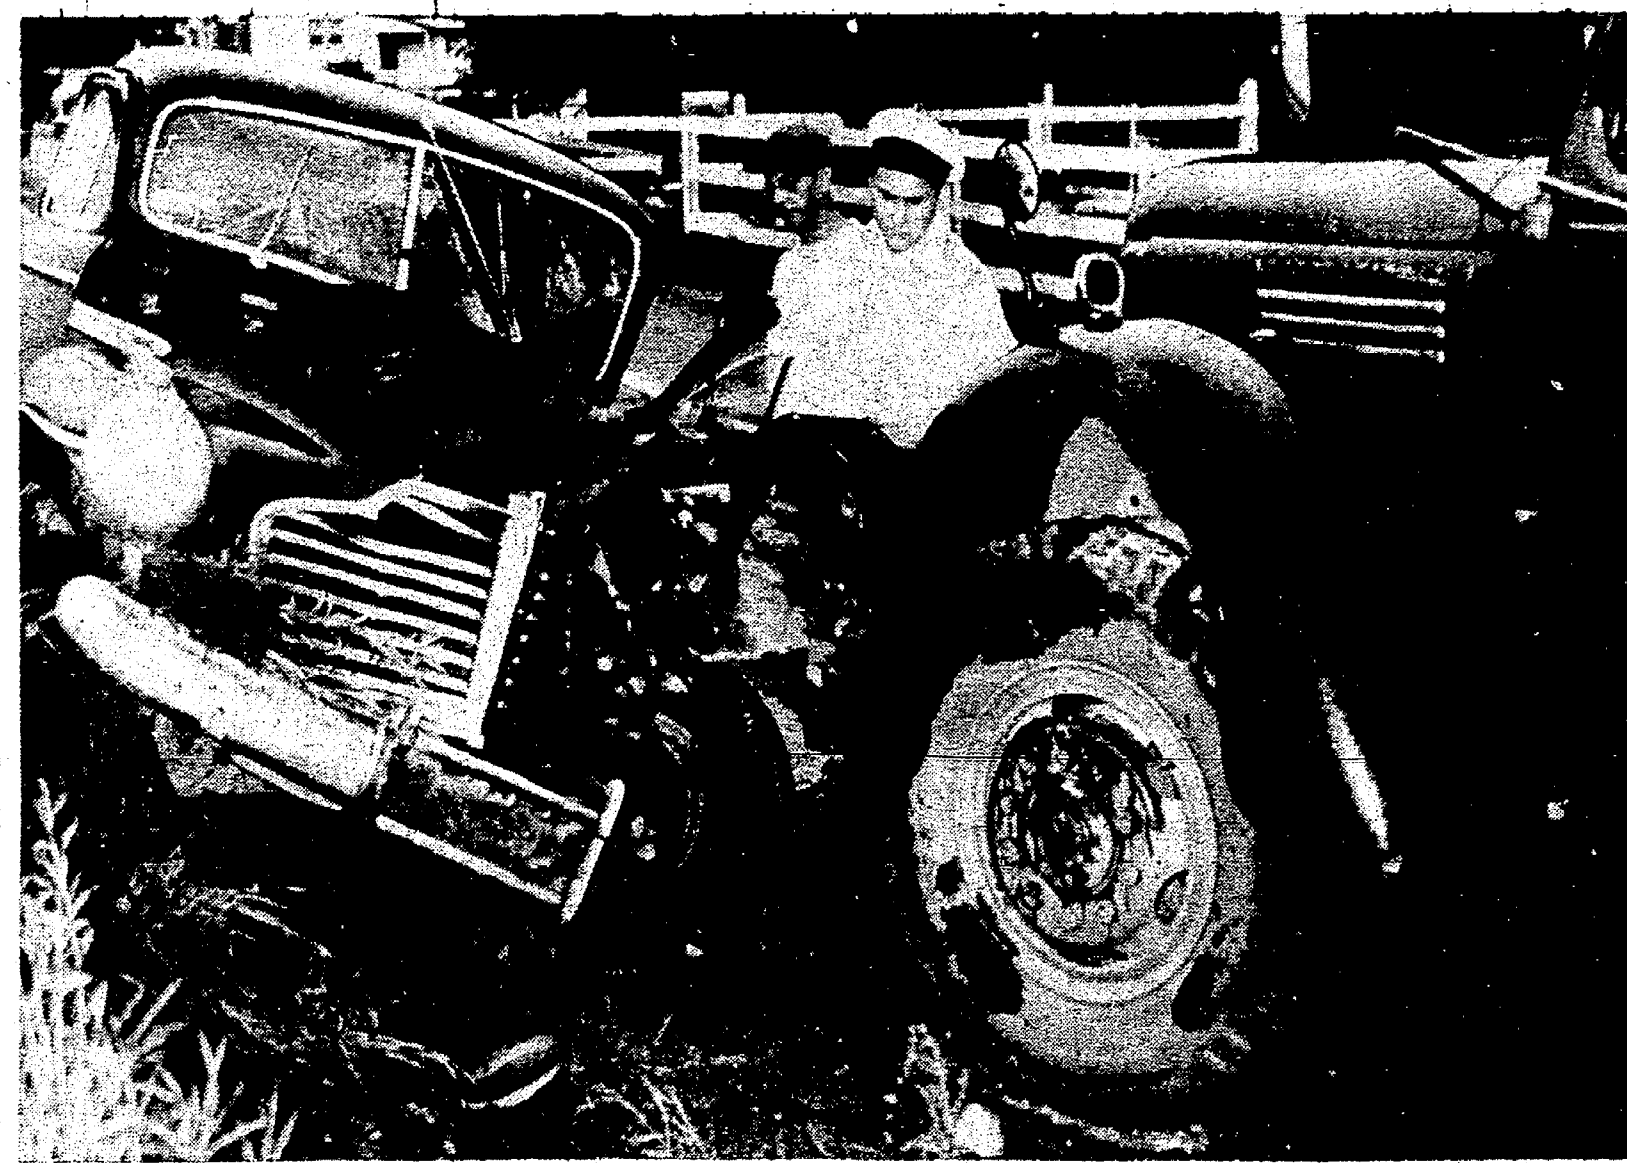

The mercury which climbed swiftly to 70 degrees in the late morning hours skidded downward with the coming of the rain.

Pottstonians felt as though the calendar's pages were turned back a couple of months and that Spring had not yet come.

Today is expected to be even cooler with the temperature reaching a high of about 60 degrees.

And an even gloomier thought is that occasional rain is forecast.

Warren R. Filer, 32, was driving the four-door black sedan east on Lewis road when the truck operated by George Molestress, Box 591, Pottstown, pinned him into the south bank along the highway. Molestress, who operates the heavy truck for Sanitary Company of America, Linfield, said, "I couldn't keep the truck on the right side of the road. Because of the rain I slipped over to the left." ONLY AUTOMOBILE SALES GO UP

Easier Credit Terms Fail to Create Rush

By MARTIN SALDITCH (Mercury Staff Writer)

"People aren't going into debt just because it's easier now."

That observation by a Pottstown businessman was offered in explanation of why borough residents haven't been rushing to buy merchandise on easier payment plans since the lifting of credit restrictions recently by the Federal Reserve Board.

Except for a slight upsurge in automobile sales, business was reported normal by furniture, appliance and jewelry managers in a survey of borough dealers yesterday.

Most merchants expressed the opinion that easy credit terms would quicken sales among customers who have intended to buy certain items, but would not influence persons who were not in the market for the goods.

"A PERSON isn't going to buy something just because it's easy to get credit," one businessman explained, "especially for a durable product like furniture or appliances. With a glamor item like automobiles, however, it's a different story."

The large car agencies agreed that the lifting of Regulation "W" was a definite help to sales. Although most dealers still insist on one-third down on new and late model cars, they have extended the former 18-month payment period to 24 months, thus reducing the size of monthly installments.

John Krause, salesman at Gregory's automobile agency, reported that purchases of new and used cars were up 75 percent since controls were relaxed, indicating that lower monthly payments were enticing to auto purchasers.

Although other agencies did not report a similar high boost in sales, they announce slightly higher turnovers, and optimistic prospects for the future.

"Customers haven't been beating a path to our door since restrictions were lifted," reported one car dealer, "but it has helped us to make sales, though so far they haven't been too numerous. It's really too early to determine the full effects of the removal of controls."

Another dealer said, "The end of Regulation 'W' will definitely stimulate sales in the months ahead. You can't expect people to rush out the first week to get cars."

THE MANAGER of one of the large borough department stores reported an upsurge in appliances during the first few days after controls were relaxed.

Opposition Faces Doehler Union Head on May 28

Nearly 1750 members of Doehler Local 1056, United Auto Workers (CIO), are expected to vote Wednesday, May 28, at an election that will see Leonard Keffer, union president, opposed for re-election by a newcomer to union politics.

Nominations for office were made at a meeting in the Die Casters club Sunday. The election will be held at the plant.

The third shift will vote from 4 a. m. to 7 a. m.; the first shift from 7 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., and the second, from 2:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Warren Hoffman Jr., chairman of the election board for the past 11 years, will have the same job this time. Votes will be counted the next day, eliminating for the first time the all-night grind.

Keffer's opponent will be Samuel H. Walters, Phoenixville RD (Continued on Page Ten)

Steel Workers Put Dilliaine, Wien on Ballot

James K. Dilliaine, president of Bethlehem Steel Local 2177, United Steel Workers (CIO) was renominated for the presidency of the local last night, but will be opposed on the ballot by Merritt S. Wien, a former president, who was defeated by J. Alfred Marquet two years ago.

Dilliaine and Wien were nominated at a meeting of the local in the CIO hall, 364 King street. They will head a ballot marked by contests in only three other posts.

All officers elected will serve two-year terms.

Dilliaine, who formerly served as vice president of the local, was moved up to the presidency automatically in March, 1951, after Marquet was named Pottstown's acting postmaster.

He has held the top office in the local for almost a year and a half and led the membership through two recent strikes against the company.

Wien has been an active member of the local for many years. He opposed Marquet's election two years ago, fighting the results on the basis of a technicality, but was overruled by the international.

Others named to the ballot were: vice president, Jack Smith, incumbent; recording secretary, Benjamin L. Wade, incumbent; financial secretary, Charles Hartman, incumbent; treasurer, Charles Schulz and Dimitri Sweetka; guide, James Quinn, incumbent.

Vogeler Tells Of Life Under Communist Rule

By CHARLES T. HEARN (Mercury Staff Writer)

Robert A. Vogeler told over 1000 persons in Pottstown Senior High school auditorium last night of his own experiences with Communist arbitrary justice and warned them that the same thing could happen to them.

In the program sponsored by the Memorial hospital ladies auxiliary, Vogeler related the hardships suffered at the hands of Communist secret police in Hungary during 17 months imprisonment.

Vogeler arrived back in the United States May 31, 1951 two days after his release from confinement by the secret police. He said he had given up hope during his long stay in prison that he would ever see his homeland again.

Vogeler picked Czechoslovakia as an example of Communist infiltration.

AGENTS OF the Cominform, he said, infiltrated Czechoslovakia's government, caused dissension in Parliament, expanded its ranks in the nation's police force, and later as their powers grew, proposed nationalization of banks and industry.

"I've picked one country to show the pattern of Communism," Vogeler said. "They've been successful. I saw it happen and I saw the results."

"There was no need to bargain between labor and the state," he continued. He said that to bargain (Continued on Page Fourteen)

16-Year-Old Garage Sold By Lindauer

Richard E. Lindauer, borough fire chief for the past 12 years, announced yesterday that he has sold his parking garage business on South Charlotte street, which he opened 16 years ago as the first of its kind in Pottstown.

For the next few weeks, Lindauer said, he will devote his time to the borough's fire safety program, completing scheduled inspections of buildings, chiefly in the mid-borough.

After that, he said, "I'll look around for a new business to get in." Lindauer said he had made no definite decision about the type business he'll operate.

The fire chief said he regretted leaving Dick's Parking garage, 18 South Charlotte street, and said that the decision to do so was a result of the long hours it demanded.

HE WAS at the garage an average of 68 hours a week. This, plus his work as fire chief and his work as president of the 2500-member Eagles Home association, made too heavy a schedule.

The business now requires being open even longer hours. He said, and he felt it was impossible for him to do this.

Lindauer sold the business (the property is owned by Eagles Home association) to John G. Pender, 75 (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Pottstown Man Escapes From Prison's Farm

A 25-year-old Pottstown man, Harold D. Martz, 1255 Maple street, was one of three prisoners who escaped from the Eastern State penitentiary farm on Route 113, near Graterford, yesterday morning.

Martz was serving a two and one-half to five-year sentence for larceny of an automobile. He had been sentenced from Carbon county.

Police said Martz also served a ten-month sentence in the Montgomery county prison in 1948 after stealing a car and a truck in Pottstown. They listed his address at 1255 Maple street.

BILL INCREASING SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS BOGS

Ways Would Be Open For Socialized Medicine, House Members Declare

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—A proposed 300-million-dollar a year increase in Social Security benefits founded in the House today on a charge it would open the way for socialized medicine.

The bill came up under a situation requiring two-thirds majority for approval and with amendments barred. It got a thin 130-140 majority, but that was 45 votes short of the needed two-thirds.

In theory, the measure still had a chance for revival if the sponsors got clearance from the Rules committee for procedure in the normal parliamentary way. Actually, there appeared to be little likelihood of such a move, in view of the already developing adjournment rush.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the Ways and Means committee, author of the bill, told a reporter soon after the vote:

"I have no present plans to go before the Rules committee. Let those who voted to kill it take the responsibility, as far as I am concerned."

VOTING FOR the bill were 87 Democrats, 51 Republicans and one Independent. Against it were 99 Republicans and 41 Democrats.

The socialized medicine cry, raised against the bill by the American Medical Association and echoed by several Republican House members, was directed against a section designed to preserve the old age and survivors insurance rights of persons totally and permanently disabled.

The primary feature of the measure was a raise in benefits of at least $5 a month for practically all persons now drawing retirement benefits under the program, and up to $5 a month for those who retire in the future. Proportionate increases were provided for widows, children and other beneficiaries.

The minimum monthly benefit for an individual would be raised from $20 to $25 a month, and the maximum paid any one family from $150 to $168.75. An individual could earn up to $70 (instead of $50) a month without sacrificing his benefits under the measure. Social Security credit at the rate of $160 a month would be extended persons in the military service since World War II. Additional local and state government employees would have been covered.

Approximately 4½ million persons receive monthly payments under the old age and survivors insurance program.

THE MEASURE was approved by the Ways and Means committee the past week after two brief closed sessions and no public hearings. Opposition first became evident this morning, when members began receiving telegrams from members of the American Medical Association. One, signed by Dr. Joseph S. Lawrence, director of AMA's Washington office, complained the bill represented "socialized medicine" and gave "unusual powers in the medical field" to Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing.

Republican Rep. Reed, of New York, Halleck, of Indiana, Curtis, of Nebraska, Jenkins, of Ohio, and others brought up those complaints on the floor.

Reed said the minority did not object to the increased benefits, "although we realize they are purely political." But he raised special objections to sections of the measure, which would let Ewing lay down the rules for examining persons claiming total and permanent disability, designate the physicians or agencies that performed such examinations, and deny certification to applicants who refused to accept rehabilitation services under the Vocational Rehabilitation act.

Those powers, Reed said, "absolutely" open the door to socialized medicine.

"This is a very clever device to mislead the House," he said. "They baited the trap very well, with certain benefits we don't object to."

Doughton told the House the increased benefits were necessary because of the higher cost of living.

Railroads Okay U. S. Plan to Settle Dispute; Pay Hikes Range Up to 37 Cents More

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Nation's railroads tonight accepted a White House plan to settle the three-year rail dispute with three big operating unions.

But the unions—the engineers, firemen and conductors with a combined membership of 150,000—were still studying the proposal offered by presidential assistant John R. Steelman. There was no indication the unions would either accept or reject the peace proposal tonight.

Steelman personally announced the plan and said it would boost wages 37 cents an hour for men who work in the yards and 23½ cents for men working on the roads. These amounts include a 12½-cent and 5-cent boost for yardmen and roadmen, respectively, which the Army, in technical control of the roads since they were seized by the Government in 1945.

No Decision Is Given On Steel Mills Seizure

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Resolution of the heated controversy over seizure of the steel mills remained a matter for the future today, when the Supreme court passed up one opportunity to rule.

The court held its first opinion day session since hearing arguments in the case the past week, but it did not hand down a decision and gave no indication when it might do so.

It could come any day now, even tomorrow, although court officers do not expect that. The next regular day for opinions is next Monday.

BIG LIE METHOD IS CHARGED TO ACHESON CRITICS

Technique Used in Series Of Published Criticisms, State Dep't Declares

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The State department said today the big lie technique was used in a series of published criticisms of Secretary Acheson which, it said, are being widely distributed.

Assistant Secretary Howland H. Sargeant told Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) in a letter that the charges, as published in a national magazine, were "a synthesis of half-truths, statements out of context, misrepresentation and total falsehoods."

Sargeant submitted a point by point reply to 23 allegations which he said were made in an article entitled "Freedom's Case Against Dean Acheson" by Felix Wittmer in the American Mercury.

In New York, neither Wittmer nor editors of the magazine could be reached immediately for comment.

DOUGLAS HAD asked the department for comment on the article.

The department decided to reply publicly, Sargeant said, because a private organization which he did not name "has taken upon itself to make a wide distribution of this article in reprint form."

The department hit back with the big lie countercharges in denying that an "Acheson clique" got rid of former undersecretary Joseph Grew soon after World War II because Grew insisted on vigorous prosecution of career diplomat John Stewart Service. Service recently was fired after an official board found there was reasonable doubt of his loyalty.

Commenting that "here again is the big lie at work," the department said that former secretary James F. Byrnes, rather than Acheson, reinstated Service following investigation of leaks of confidential information in 1945 to the magazine Amerasia, now defunct.

At the outset of its 14,000 word statement, the department challenged an assertion by the writer, Wittmer, that Acheson at a meeting with a group of lecturers on Jan. 3, 1946, made the statement: "After all, what's the difference between Russia and America?"

It said Wittmer's report was unsupported by recollections of 12 other people who attended the meeting, of which there was no transcript.

The reply termed "utterly false and preposterous" an assertion that Acheson as a lawyer was paid advocate for Soviet Russia.

FURTHER INCREASES SEEN

Most Canned Goods Are Raised 1-2 Cents

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Government issued a price order today which it said would mean a boost of one to two cents a can in many stores for most popular canned vegetables, fruits and juices.

The order affects profit margins of wholesale grocers. The Office of Price Stabilization said the action, effective tomorrow, was needed because of "markedly lower earnings" being realized by wholesalers.

The increased ceilings will apply to corn, green beans, peas, tomatoes and tomato juice, canned fruit cocktail, pineapple, peaches and pears.

OPS also announced today that price controls are being suspended on raw cotton and virtually all textiles, including those made of wool, cotton and synthetic fibers. The action is not expected to have much if any effect on consumer prices, because all the items affected have been selling well below ceilings.

OPS SAID Director-Ellis Arnall had signed the order, but its details were not immediately made public.

As for food prices, OPS officials said further increases in a wide range of items can be expected soon under an order permitting retailers to increase their mark-ups on many types of foods. These will include such things as concentrated coffee, dry cereals, cookies and many canned meats except tuna and salmon.

Agency officials said they are working on the retail ceilings regulation now and it may come before the end of the month.

OPS said the higher retail ceilings resulting from the adjustments for wholesalers will apply chiefly to independent stores, both large and small, where buying is done through wholesalers. Generally it is not expected to affect prices in chain stores which usually buy direct from producers and do not deal through the wholesalers.

THE AGENCY noted that although wholesale ceilings—and thus retail ceilings, too—will be higher, this does not necessarily mean that all ceiling prices will be boosted. For some types of canned goods, officials said prices are already about as high as the public is willing to pay.

OPS said the higher margins for wholesalers represent a temporary action. The new mark-ups will be subject to review when the agency completes tabulation of an extensive Nation-wide survey of margins and earnings of both wholesalers and retailers.

Rescue Crew Flies To Free American Captured in Jungle

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 19 (AP)—Three Brazilian air force planes loaded with paratroopers set out today to release a Brazilian major and an American held at gunpoint by a rival jungle mission to the scene of the past month's crash of a Pan American Stratocruiser.

A Brazilian news agency reported two other Americans were held as hostages in the wild jungle rivalry, but officials of their companies in the United States said the two were not being held and were safe.

The U. S. embassy said it had been assured by the Brazilian foreign office that all necessary steps were being taken to free Scott A. Magness, U. S. Civil Aeronautics Authority safety adviser from Miami and Brazilian Major Miranda Correa.

Thirty to 35 armed Indian guides and newsmen, members of a private expedition to the scene of the Stratocruiser crash, were reported holding them hostage to gain their own evacuation by air.

Capt. Charles Miller, pilot of a U. S. Air Force helicopter, messaged his commanding officer in the Panama Canal zone last night.

Five Hurt in Tunisia By Bombs, Gunfire

TUNIS, Tunisia, May 19 (AP)—Bombs and gunfire injured five persons last night and early today in scattered incidents throughout this strife-ridden French protectorate.

None of the injured, which included four Frenchmen, was seriously hurt. The Frenchmen were riding in a car between Stax and Gaves last night when they were attacked by men armed with automatic weapons.

A Tunisian employee at the Stax post office was injured by a bomb that did considerable damage to the building.

that he was being forced to fly supplies to the armed group "at the threat of death" to Magness.

The Brazilian news agency, Meridional, said Robert Wisenbaker, a Pan American pilot, and Stanley Brooks of Pratt and Whitney, might also be held. The two were last reported enroute from the crash scene to where they had landed their helicopter.

Correa and the three Americans were members of an official expedition which set up an advanced base at Lagoa Grande, 900 miles north of Rio de Janeiro.

They hacked a path 35 miles through the jungle to the mountain where Pan American's Stratocruiser crashed and killed all 50 persons aboard on April 29.

ITS NEW KIND OF HORSEPOWER IS SOMETHING TO FEEL!

With its 180 HP V-8 engine, on 125 7/8 inches of wheelbase, many people think the Saratoga is the best Chrysler car of all.

We invite you to take the wheel and feel what happens! There's a new sense of easy power, of reserve power that make driving a new experience.

Inside the engine are reasons for this. Its revolutionary combustion chamber develops more of the power in each charge of fuel than other engines can do. Its construction is both more sturdy and more efficient.

One result is performance, even on non-premium fuel, such as you have never felt. Another result is new long-term economy. It's an engine that scarcely forms carbon deposit at all. It creates less heat and develops less wear than other engines. It will last much longer, and stay younger on the way!

With Chrysler full-time Power Steering*, you execute every steering move with one-fifth the usual effort... drive every mile, at every speed, with five times the usual control! With Chrysler Power Brakes you need up to two-thirds less foot pressure... and still stop in many feet less than other cars can do.

Yes, behind Chrysler's new engine you'll find a new kind of car. Won't you come in and feel what we mean?

*NOTE: Power Steering standard on Crown Imperial. Available, extra, on any new Chrysler.

They Held Exercises Between Spells of Bad Weather

May Day exercises at Rupert school yesterday afternoon attracted more than 300 spectators. Despite threatening morning clouds and late afternoon rain the show was rescheduled when Old Sol broke through the clouds at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Both parents and tots ringed the flower-decked stage. A segment of the crowd

Determined Children Hold Their May Day Exercises at Rupert

Elementary school May Day exercises for 1952 were concluded yesterday on the terrace of Rupert school.

But it took a call to the Reading weather bureau, two polls of the faculty, the disappointed looks of many children and a warm wink of Old Sol late yesterday morning to convince school leaders the show should go on.

Originally the Rupert exercise was scheduled for this past Monday, but inclement weather forced postponement until yesterday.

At 8:30 a. m. the exercises were called off. Mrs. Bertha N. Maraffie, elementary school music supervisor and co-ordinator of the May Day programs, called the Reading weather bureau after the show had been postponed for a second time, and learned that rain today would be more likely than rain yesterday.

At 10:30 o'clock Old Sol shook loose gray clouds and the pleading eyes of little children convinced Mrs. Maraffie the postponement should be reconsidered.

A SEND POLL of teachers was taken and they decided the show should go on. The program was completed before yesterday afternoon's rain.

More than 300 parents gathered on a carpet of green sod on the east terrace to watch the bicentennial May Day exercise.

Children from each grade dashed through dance and song skits, the story of John Potts' founding of Pottstown was retold and the assemblage participated in several songs.

Queen Eileen Hart marched to her white throne with a crown of daisies in her hair with three attendants and flower girls joining the procession.

Attendants were Joanne Smoker, Linda Richard and Stella Borgiet. Flower girls, who carried tiny baskets of flowers, were Bonnie Hutt and Donna Woodley.

MISS SMOKER wore a pink dress. Miss Richard was garbed in yellow and Miss Borgiet in light blue.

As the story of early days of Pottstown was narrated John Potts (Russell Kiehn) and Mrs. Potts (Patsy Gilbert) strolled onto the scene.

Their children were Michael Zeigler, Barbara Mercer, Patty Hutt and Linda Rohr.

Flag bearer were Richard Wells, Robert Rutkowski, Dennis Conifer and Harry Cummings.

Baskets of gladioli, iris, roses and other Spring flowers ringed the white-covered throne in the middle of the stage.

First graders went through a rhythm band routine and Second graders did interpretive dances.

Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth grades contributed dance and song skits.

AMONG THE crowd who sat on wooden chairs and stood in back of chairs were adults, friends and relatives of May Day performers.

Baby brothers and baby sisters of several performers didn't get much out of the show. They snoozed in their baby coaches while brother and sister went through their paces on the stage.

The assemblage sang "America" to open the show and "America the Beautiful" at the conclusion.

During the exercise pupils sang "Our Pottstown" a song written for the bicentennial by Mrs. Maraffie.

The elementary school orchestra which played for yesterday's performance included Diana Polkinhorn, Lewis F. Maraffie, Harrier Gould, James Vocorn, Linda Richard, Lane Daylor, Brooke Creswell, Lee Schumaker, Gertrude Schmidt.

Also, Marilyn Maraffie, Grace Rowland, Betty Jo Leventhal, Heidi Jousson, Jay Leblang, Danile Sikora, Jesse Houck, David Engle, Peter VanDyke, Cort VanRensselaer, Rupert school.

Also, Brenda Moyer, William Hampton, Lee Shaner and Harry Royer, Washington school; Elizabeth Keps, St. Clair school, and Robert Henricks, Franklin school.

Dr. Maron Approved To Medical Staff of Pottstown Hospital

The appointment of Dr. John J. Maron, former resident physician, to the medical staff of the Pottstown hospital was approved by the hospital board of directors last night.

Dr. Maron, who lives at 426 Main street, Royersford, was resident physician at the hospital from July 1, 1951, to the past April 1. At the present time, he is associated with Dr. R. K. Glocker, Royersford physician.

A native of Brooklyn, N. Y., Dr. Maron is a graduate of Fordham university and the Bellevue College of Medicine. He served his internship at the U. S. Naval hospital, St. Albans, N. Y., before coming to Pottstown.

The board also approved the appointment of Lucile B. Munzer, a native of Toledo, O., as director of nursing at the hospital. It expressed the feeling Miss Munzer will be able to improve the nursing service of the hospital and raise the standards of the school of nursing.

APPOINTMENT of Miss Munzer to the post ends a six-month search for a successor to Mrs. Sarah R. Sellers, former director, who resigned early this year. Miss Munzer previously served as director of nursing at the Western Oklahoma hospital, Clinton, Okla.

Charles L. Schulz, president of the board, named five committees and continued another for the coming year. Named to the groups were:

Finance—Edward L. Gruber, chairman; George M. Longaker and Irvin W. Riegner.

Nursing school—Sam H. Keiser, chairman; Longaker and Brooke Lessig.

Property—Riegner, chairman; Robert B. Conner and Lessig.

Administrative—Gruber, chairman; Keiser and D. K. Bullens.

Grounds—Daniel Unger, chairman; Ernst K. Struckmann and Larry E. Orgill.

The building committee in charge of the new hospital building program was retained and extended for the complete year.

tion of the hospital. Serving on the committee are Gruber, chairman; Keiser and Bullens.

A. C. Seawell, administrator, reported the new bookkeeping machine ordered in June, 1951, has been received and is expected to be in operation by July 1. The machine is expected to prove an aid to the hospital's accounting system and will make the business office more efficient.

SEAWELL ALSO acknowledged the receipt of $250 from the Security Trust company under the will of Mary Y. Brendlinger, who died April 20, 1951.

The board approved sending Seawell to the Mid-Atlantic Hospital assembly which will open in Atlantic City, N. J., tomorrow morning. Seawell, however, will leave this morning for a special session on civil defense.

He is the rural area representative for Pennsylvania on a special committee of 21 which will meet with Federal civil defense officials. The government representatives will check on hospital civil defense plans to ascertain if they are prepared for any emergency.

He expects to return from the assembly Saturday.

Parade, Show Set At Fairview Village By Horse Company

The Farmers Union Horse company for the Recovery of Stolen Horses and Detecting the Thieves in Montgomery county is planning its 119th annual parade and horse show for June 7.

The general committee planning for the program will be under direction of Robert Stewart, chairman.

No advance entries are required to compete in the show and it is expected that the number of entries will be greater than ever because of this reason.

The ring area for the show is on Tidlow field in the rear of the Fairview Village assembly hall.

THIS UNUSUAL horse company was formed 119 years ago to serve the specific purpose which its name implies—to protect farmers who owned horses from thievery.

One of the features of the program will be a conestoga wagon reported to be 175 years old. Only minor repairs have been made to the wagon which has its original running gear and body.

Final arrangements for the show will be made at a meeting of the general committee on Thursday. Trophies to be awarded will be planned at that meeting also.

Bank Head Will Address Pottstown Lions Tonight

Jack Heckman, president of the City Bank and Trust company of Reading, will address Pottstown Lions club members on financing during a dinner meeting at the Eagles home association tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

Paul Hoffman, chairman of the nominating committee, will present a slate of new officers for approval by the membership during the first meeting in June. Nominations from the floor will be accepted at tonight's meeting.

Council Fire Committee To Open Bids on Hose

Council's fire committee tonight will open bids for fire hose and hose dryers it was reported by Ralph Weis, committee chairman, yesterday.

The session will convene at 7:30 o'clock.

United Fund Is Topic Of Speaker Before Citizens Committee

Pottstown's Citizens Study committee on the United Fund will hear the executive director of the United Fund of Philadelphia at its meeting Thursday at 12:15 p. m. in the Shuler house, it was announced yesterday.

Joseph D. Gibbon, who also is executive director, Community Chest of Philadelphia and vicinity, will discuss the possibilities of a United Fund in the Pottstown area.

Gibbon was chosen executive director of the United Fund in Philadelphia upon its formation in July, 1950, and he led an inclusive campaign that raised $1,000,000 more than had been raised in separate appeals the previous year.

Before coming to Philadelphia in 1946, he was executive secretary of the Community Chest in St. Paul, Minn., for six years.

Chairman of the meeting will be Vinicio Fisher, executive secretary of Pottstown's Community Chest.

Hearings Put Off for 3 Who Flew Soviet Flag

CHICAGO, May 19 (AP)—Three college youths arrested after flying the Red flag of Russia from a south side apartment window drew a continuance today at their arraignment in Municipal court.

Charges of disorderly conduct and illegally displaying a foreign flag against the three were continued to May 29. They are at liberty under bond of $200 each.

The trio was seized by police yesterday on complaints of angry neighbors who gathered beneath the seven-foot emblem. The youths said they did it just to see "what would happen."

Two Not at Hearing Forfeit $55 Here

Two men arrested on South Hanover street for drunken conduct forfeited a total of $55 for not appearing at scheduled hearings before Justice of the Peace Richard H. Cadmus, of the Seventh ward, it was announced yesterday.

Motor Patrolman Earl J. Rhoads nabbed John Foster, 45, Philadelphia, and Louis Nick Forceme, 32, Phoenixville, the past Friday afternoon. Hearings were set for 11 a. m. Saturday.

Foster, charged with being drunk, posted $20 bail, which became $20 in fine and costs when he failed to appear. Forceme, charged with drunk and disorderly conduct, posted $35.

A third man arrested by Rhoads on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct was scheduled to have a hearing before Cadmus Thursday. He gave his name and address as England Ault, 718 Walnut street. He was arrested 9:45 a. m. Saturday on West High street.

To Keep Lovely for 'Him' Take Care of Complexion

Protecting the complexion with no vacations. But it is worth against its enemies—harsh winds, the trouble as a beautiful complexion rates high on the list of beauty assets. strong sunlight and atmospheric dust—is every bit as necessary as the application of soothing creams and putting on the artifice that you tote home from the cosmetic counter. Time also is an enemy and one must fight the birthday slaps bestowed by the old meanie with the scythe and the long white whiskers.

During the Winter months, the complexion must be kept lubricated so that it is not harsh, chapped and dried out by the time the Spring flowers bloom. When the good old summertime arrives, there must be a battle against sunburn, tan and freckles. It is a job that goes on 52 weeks to the year.

If it too light it will look patchy. If too dark it may not look natural. Make-up is going natural in a big way these days.

You must be sure that your complexion powder is the same shade as the foundation. For a young burn, tan and freckles are not necessary. But the young skin needs creaming and petting just as much as that of the middle-aged and the elderly sisters. One can't start too soon to preserve youthful loveliness, for which no substitute can be purchased.

Be sure never to use soapsuds on your face if the skin is flushed after too much sunlight or too strenuous exercise. The delicate epidermal surface will be grateful then for a gentle creaming.

Wedding Ring Fashions Have Changed in a Circle

Wedding bands are bands of course, because that's why they have been Cupid's best lassoes from the beginning.

But tradition started being flaunted several decades ago when mothers of bride-to-be were shocked to discover that daughter insisted upon a platinum or white gold band instead of the traditional plain, wide gold band.

This idea became such a fashion that for several years gold bands were hopelessly out of style. Finally the "reactionaries" brought back the plain gold band, and it now has reached almost the top of the wedding ring "hit parade."

It is interesting to note also that more and more men each year are accepting wedding rings—and proclaiming their status to the world.

If you have a flower girl in your wedding party, it might be a good idea to have a few pieces of candy or other goodies with you, to keep them calm and occupied while they are waiting to approach the altar. Children sometimes become nervous and balk at the last minute.

BUTTER-CRISP CHICKEN
5 2-pound ready - to - cook

chickens
4 cups flour
2 tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons paprika
2 pounds shortening
½ pound butter or margarine

Cut chickens into serving pieces. Rinse in cold water, drain well. Put flour, salt, pepper and paprika in a large paper bag. Shake 3 or 4 pieces of chicken in the bag at a time to coat thoroughly.

HEAT ENOUGH shortening in a heavy skillet to make a layer ¼-inch deep. Place chicken in hot shortening. Brown on both sides.

Place chicken, one layer deep, in a shallow baking pan. Brush chicken generously with melted butter.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender, about 30 to 40 minutes. Baste with melted butter after 15 minutes of baking.

If chicken cannot be served at once, reduce oven heat. Brush chicken with more melted butter. Yield: 20 servings.

Pupils Visit Washington and See Capitol, Washington Monument and Art Museum

By SANDRA JOHN
Upper Pottsgrove School
When the buses arrived in Maryland, the policeman on our bus told us to notice the white marble steps that are on almost every home in Maryland. I also noticed that they have a place for the cars to park in the middle of the street.
When we arrived in Washington, we went through the capitol. In the capitol building we saw statues

Bird Club Members Find Out Blue-Jay Is Robber of Nests

By JANICE MEEKER
The Fifth and Sixth grade Audubon Bird club meeting was called to order by our president, Kenneth Stauffer.
Barbara Geiser and Stephen Pollinotz gave reports about the blue-jay. From the reports we learned that the blue-jay is a corn thief. He also is a nest robber.
The blue-jay is the clown of all birdland. He also is called the handsomest and the wickedest of all American birds.
The blue-jay is similar to the crow because they both like to eat the bird eggs and kill the young. The blue-jay is 11½ inches long and lays three to six greenish eggs.
THE TONE of the blue-jay is a low to a high pitch. The blue-jay can sing four to five different notes.
Next week Pearl Rhodes and Richard Spayd will report on the evening grosbeak.
Gerald Haring was appointed to take care of our two bird-feeders for next week. David Prout saw two blue-jays taking corn from their corn bin.
Ronald Neiman saw a Baltimore oriole. He also saw a pair of wren's making a birds nest in one of his birdhouses. Charles Stroop saw a salad bird and a catbird.
KENNETH STAUFFER saw a wild canary. Gerald Haring saw three baby robins learning how to fly. Barry Rhoads saw four baby robins. Clark Hughes saw several bow-tailed grackles making their nest in one of their trees around his home.
Richard Spayd saw a blue-bird trying to get in one of his birdhouses. Richard Rhoads saw a few goldfinches and a salad bird which resembles a gold-finch.
Sandra John reported that her neighbor wanted three birdhouses which Stephen Pollinotz, Kenneth Stauffer and Clark Hughes volunteered to make.

Instructors' Groups In industrial Arts Will Elect Officers

Officers of the southeastern Pennsylvania and Montgomery county Industrial Education associations will be elected tomorrow night when those organizations meet for dinner at 6:30 o'clock at the Whispering Pines restaurant, Lansdale.
The larger group comprises industrial arts and vocational teachers in Montgomery, Bucks, Delaware and Chester county schools and the smaller unit only industrial arts instructors from Montgomery county.
The meeting will be the annual gathering of the larger association and the monthly meeting of the smaller.
Harry E. Mankonen of the Hunter Spring company, Lansdale, will speak on "Shop Uses of Negator Clamps" and E. E. Morris, of the Philadelphia office of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass company, on "Reinforced Plastics."
Representatives of two plastics manufacturers will join Morris on a panel discussion of plastics. After the meeting the vocational shop at Lansdale High school and the industrial arts shop at Lansdale's Green street school will be open for inspection by the teachers and their guests.

Movies Are Shown On Fishing Industry, Forest Fire Causes

By SANDRA JOHN
Mr. Ferdinand, our school principal, showed Grades one to six two films entitled "Trees for Tomorrow" and "New England Fisherman."
First we saw "Trees for Tomorrow." It showed on a chart that 25 percent of the fires are caused by careless smokers, 25 percent are deliberate fires, 9 percent are caused by lightning, 27 percent by campers and 14 percent are brush fires.
Next we saw "New England Fisherman." It showed the process from catching to marketing. Every so often they check the net to see if its torn. It also showed how they put ice on the fish to keep them fresh for market.
The pupils of the Second, Third and Fourth grades enjoyed an arithmetic program which they viewed on our school television set.

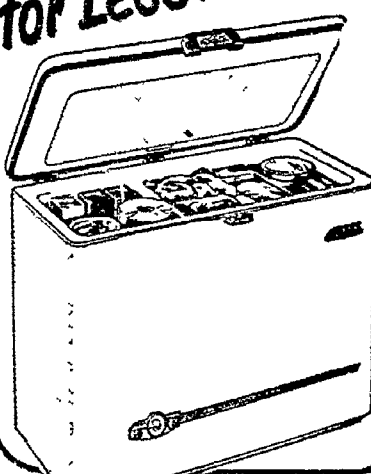

THE SECOND grade in science is studying about leaves and flowers.
The Third grade in science is studying "wheels and levers".
Some pupils of the First grade have gotten new animals at their homes. Lillian Brietschwerdt has a little kitten named Scary Cat. Carl Metzgar's father found a kitten which his father gave to him. Robert Freese has a puppy. Donnell Decker has peeps. Barbara McDonnell has kittens. Doris Ann Ludy has peeps. Rudy Lauer has a new puppy. Michael

Annual Spring Dance Of Hospital Auxiliary Is Attended by 200

Some 200 guests attended the annual Spring dance sponsored by Inter-Community Memorial hospital auxiliary at Spring-Ford Country club recently.

Dancing began at 10 o'clock to the music of Ken Nichols orchestra, and a buffet supper was served at 12:30 o'clock.

The decorations transformed the interior of the clubhouse ballroom into a starlit garden. Varicolored stars were suspended from the lights to give a starlight illusion, and wall pockets at the side walls were filled with spires. The mirror over the mantle reflected a bouquet of flowers contributed by a florist.

Prizes, contributed by several businessmen, were awarded to the following persons:

Mrs. Milford Miller, Mrs. Russell Ash, Mrs. Jacob Shade, Mrs. Margaret Devan, Mrs. Alvin Wetty, Miss Margaret Crothers and Mrs. J. Carroll Deisher.

MRS. THOMAS TUCKER and Miss Freda Schindler were chairmen of the affair.

Baby Day, sponsored by the hospital auxiliary, will be held this afternoon from 2:30 to 4 o'clock in the Baptist recreation center, Fourth avenue and Church street, Royersford.

Birthday Marked By Surprise Dinner

To mark his 40th birthday anniversary today, John W. Gregory, Linfield, was honored at a surprise dinner given by Mrs. Gregory at their home Sunday.

House Extends Program Of Soil Conservation

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The House today passed and sent to President Truman a bill extending the soil conservation program for two more years. The program of payment to farmers for conservation practices would have expired at the end of this year.

The soil conservator law was first enacted in 1936. It has been extended, generally for two-year periods, periodically since then.

Hit and Run Driver Turns Himself in to Jeffersonville Police

A young man walked into the State police substation at Jeffersonville yesterday morning and identified himself as the hit and run driver who struck a Spring City car near Royersford late Saturday night, according to State police.

He was identified as Theodore Martin, about 21, of Eagleville road, Eagleville. Police said he will be charged with hit and run driving. A hearing had not been set by last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Haldeman, 318 Chestnut street, Spring City, escaped Saturday night when the hit and run car sideswiped their car and creased two fenders. The collision occurred on Township Line road just east of the Royersford borough limits.

Haldeman, who was driving, said he saw the other car coming toward him partly on the wrong side of the road and that he cut sharply to the right to avoid a head-on crash. The other car kept on going toward Royersford, Haldeman said.

Police said Martin turned himself into State Trooper John Flannery. Martin reportedly stated excitement over the accident was his reason for not stopping at the scene.

CREDITORS FIND LITTLE AT SALE

Carpenter Shop Here Left by Businessman Had Few Compensations

A crowd composed largely of creditors of a Pottstown businessman who vanished abruptly a month ago had trouble getting into his cabinet shop for a public sale yesterday and had almost as much trouble finding anything to sell when they did get there.

John Davidson, 110 South Hanover street, proprietor of Ideal Carpenter and Cabinet shop, South Washington and Apple streets, left town with his wife and car.

He put a sign on a shop window saying he would be back in two days. The four employees, whom he owed three weeks' wages, came back then. They didn't see him since.

A public sale was set after his possessions in the shop were distrainted for rent by the owner of the building, E. B. Satterthwaite, Jenkintown.

ATTORNEY C. Edmund Wells led the group that descended at the small shop yesterday for the sale. Davidson had left the door key partially broken off in the lock, which caused a delay in the crowd's entering.

The power machinery, it was learned, was subject to a chattel mortgage by a Pottstown bank and could not be sold. Several employees claimed tools. One claimed a ladder.

What was left—largely lumber and unfinished cabinets—was sold after spirited bidding to C. K. Budich, 304 North Evans street, a former employee, for $110.

The little red truck that Davidson left behind was sold for $95 to John Satterthwaite, 814 North Evans street, a grandson of the owner.

Davidson opened the shop a year ago, after having a tiny shop for awhile on South Hanover street. His second-floor apartment had food in the icebox and the bed neatly made. The clothes were gone.

Tax Collector's Son Gets Promotion in Va. School System

T. Edward Rutter, 45-year-old son of Thomas L. Rutter, veteran borough tax collector, has been promoted from principal of an Arlington county high school in Virginia to superintendent of the county school system, it was announced yesterday.

The tax collector's other two sons are Carroll L. Rutter, Pottstown attorney and former borough solicitor, and Ferny Y. Rutter, Drexel Hill, Delaware county, circulation manager of Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia.

The new superintendent was born in Stowe and was graduated from Pottstown Senior High school. He received his B.A. degree from Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, and did graduate work at Columbia university, New York city.

He's been in public school work for 21 years, having taught in New York and New Jersey schools before going to Arlington county two years ago, as principal of Washington-Lee high school.

AS PRINCIPAL, he received

Insurance Talk Slated For Church Brotherhood

Grace Lutheran brotherhood will hear Harry C. Werner, Hanover Heights, speak on "The Romance of Life Insurance" at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the church basement.

Werner is manager of Metropolitan Life Insurance company's Pottstown office.

Jesse Houck, brotherhood president, will be in charge of the meeting. George Trout will be program chairman.

Pie Company Toured By St. James Group

Sixteen members of the St. James Lutheran church brotherhood toured Mrs. Smith's Pie company last night in the first of a new series of meetings.

The men inspected the pie baking operations at the plant before returning to the church for refreshments and a discussion of the group's project, the improvement of the church parking lot.

Members of the brotherhood have been cleaning and improving the parking lot, which lies along the alley behind the church.

J. Alfred Marquet, program chairman, said the tour of the plant was arranged to provide a new type of program for the group. It is planned to hold more meetings of the same type after the Summer recess.

NEXT MONTH'S meeting will be the annual outdoor picnic at the home of Paul Klaus, Ringing Hill.

Before the meeting, the brotherhood viewed the body of the late G. Burton Jones, Douglassville RD 1, who was killed when his tractor toppled on him the past Friday.

Recreation Commission Will Meet on Monday

The Recreation commission will conduct its May meeting Monday. Originally the session was slated for last night. The meeting was postponed because several members were not able to attend.

Insurance Talk Slated For Church Brotherhood

Grace Lutheran brotherhood will hear Harry C. Werner, Hanover Heights, speak on "The Romance of Life Insurance" at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the church basement.

Werner is manager of Metropolitan Life Insurance company's Pottstown office.

Jesse Houck, brotherhood president, will be in charge of the meeting. George Trout will be program chairman.

Pie Company Toured By St. James Group

Sixteen members of the St. James Lutheran church brotherhood toured Mrs. Smith's Pie company last night in the first of a new series of meetings.

The men inspected the pie baking operations at the plant before returning to the church for refreshments and a discussion of the group's project, the improvement of the church parking lot.

Members of the brotherhood have been cleaning and improving the parking lot, which lies along the alley behind the church.

J. Alfred Marquet, program chairman, said the tour of the plant was arranged to provide a new type of program for the group. It is planned to hold more meetings of the same type after the Summer recess.

NEXT MONTH'S meeting will be the annual outdoor picnic at the home of Paul Klaus, Ringing Hill.

Before the meeting, the brotherhood viewed the body of the late G. Burton Jones, Douglassville RD 1, who was killed when his tractor toppled on him the past Friday.

Tax Collector's Son Gets Promotion in Va. School System

T. Edward Rutter, 45-year-old son of Thomas L. Rutter, veteran borough tax collector, has been promoted from principal of an Arlington county high school in Virginia to superintendent of the county school system, it was announced yesterday.

The tax collector's other two sons are Carroll L. Rutter, Pottstown attorney and former borough solicitor, and Ferny Y. Rutter, Drexel Hill, Delaware county, circulation manager of Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia.

The new superintendent was born in Stowe and was graduated from Pottstown Senior High school. He received his B.A. degree from Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, and did graduate work at Columbia university, New York city.

He's been in public school work for 21 years, having taught in New York and New Jersey schools before going to Arlington county two years ago, as principal of Washington-Lee high school.

The American Legion auxiliary of the George A. Amole, Post 47, heard Sgt. David D. F. O'Connor, third prize were the winners from Pottstown Senior High school. All winners were present to receive their awards except Miss Hegedus and Miss Missimer.

Sgt. O'Connor is a patient at the Valley Forge Army hospital. He told how the patients made the poppies and how the receipts from the sales are used to help them.

Sgt. O'Connor thanked the auxiliary for giving the boys the opportunity to make the poppies.

Mrs. Gene Hohl, Americanism committee, reported the winners of the essay contest on "How the Constitution Safeguards Our Liberty." The Pottstown Junior High school prizes were awarded to Melvin Endy, first prize; Monica Hegedus, second prize and Patricia Banquet Is Staged By Ladies' Auxiliary; Mrs. Thalmer Talks

Mrs. Aaron Thalmer showed 285 of her dolls to 58 members and guests last night when the Upper Pottsgrove Fire company auxiliary staged a mother-daughter banquet in the firehouse.

The guest speaker selected several of her dolls and told their histories.

Mrs. Nora St. Onge, president, opened the evening with prayer. All of the mothers and daughters were presented with potted pansies. Prizes were won by Miss Sandra John, Mrs. Vivian Kurtz and Mrs. Edna Lightcap.

A WEDDING gift was presented to Mrs. Kurtz from the auxiliary. Mrs. Kurtz recently was married.

The members gifted Mrs. St. Onge with a floral arrangement in recognition of the work she has done in the past year. Mrs. Stella Mock was chairman of the social portion of the evening, and the program chairman was Mrs. Grace Swenson.

Four new members, Mrs. Miriam Rubright, Mrs. Charlotte Hunter, Mrs. Helen Smith and Mrs. Edna Lightcap, were welcomed into the auxiliary.

The group planned a hoe-down for sometime in June. Mrs. Swenson reported that the next meeting will be held June 16 in the form of a hat social. She also announced that the men of the fire company will have a ham supper Saturday night, May 24, and the auxiliary will prepare and serve the meal.

A report on the sale of Easter candy was given by Mrs. Evelyn Rhoads.

Mrs. Dames, Active at 90, Observes Birthday Today

Mrs. Bertha F. Dames, who lives alone at 378 High street and likes it, will observe her 90th birthday anniversary today.

The still active Mrs. Dames isn't planning any special celebration today, but probably will give her small apartment a special cleaning in preparation for visits from her seven living children, 13 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Dames has resided in her 3-room apartment for the past seven years, but before that lived with a daughter at 649 Beech street. Her original home in Pottstown, about 60 years ago when she and her husband, the late Edward G. Dames arrived from Germany, was at 709 Lincoln avenue.

There Mr. and Mrs. Dames became the parents of nine children. Mrs. Dames was born in Schlochan, East Prussia, Germany, and she and Mr. Dames were married there. In Germany Mr. Dames was an overseer on a large estate, and when the family came to the United States he was employed as an iron worker at the Glasgow Iron company. Later he worked at the Schulz Baking company.

DURING all of her married life Mrs. Dames stayed at home, cooking, cleaning and making a home for her brood of nine children. When Mr. Dames died, in 1938, she continued making her own home, and today she still does most of her own cleaning, and even her own marketing and cooking, although one of her children cares for the seasonal "deep cleanings."

A member of Grace Lutheran church, Mrs. Dames has not been able to attend services since communion just before Easter, but she never fails to listen to radio broadcasts of church services. In addition, she is an avid reader of her Bible.

Mrs. Dames' faculties are extremely keen, and she keeps abreast with all the news with her radio, television, her daily newspaper and current books.

Mrs. Dames also enjoys spending time with her large family, and loves working, or walking in a garden, and last year joined wholeheartedly in sorting the apple

Mrs. Dames' other children are: Gustav A. Dames, residing in Hollywood, Calif.; Carl W. Dames, YMCA; Freda, wife of Benjamin Steele, Master street; Meta, wife of Charles Richards, Pottstown RD 4; Edward Dames, 485 Manatwainy street, and Walter E. Dames, Maugers Mill road, Pottstown RD 3.

To Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Surman, Elverson RD, was born a son yesterday in Pottstown hospital.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. William Mauger, Glasgow street, Stowe, on the birth of a daughter yesterday in Pottstown hospital.

Yesterday a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bianchini, 1 1/2 Walnut street, in Pottstown hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Dunning, 10 South Charlotte street, are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter yesterday in Pottstown hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Messner, Birdsboro, became the parents of a son yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital, Reading.

Bicentennial Motif Set For Annual Hospital Bazaar

The influence of Pottstown's bicentennial celebration will be seen in the Pottstown hospital Senior auxiliary annual bazaar this year, to be held on the hospital grounds on Wednesday, June 18.

The decorating committee, chaired by Mrs. Carl Binder, met yesterday at her 234 Prospect street home, to plan decorations for the gala all-day affair.

Each of the booths, housing a variety of articles for sale, will be decorated as a 1732 store front, and the bicentennial colors, blue and white, will predominate throughout the grounds. The official Pottstown bicentennial seal also will be displayed.

The bicentennial booths will be constructed by committee members in Elicker's stables, and housed there until the day of the bazaar.

Working with Mrs. Binder on the decorations are: Mrs. Stanley Nowacki, co-chairman; Mrs. Jesse Hafer, Mrs. Harold Binder, Mrs. M. B. Edwards, Mrs. Melvin Gingrich, Mrs. C. Robert Elicker, Mrs. Stanley Gross and Mrs. Murray Gulak.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE HEARS MUSICALS BY YOUNG PUPILS

Two piano selections highlighted the annual May musicale presented by pupils of Earl S. Yohn last night before a capacity audience in Searles Memorial Methodist church.

Spring flowers decorated the stage of the Sunday school room, where the musicale was held. Included on the program were selections from the works of Robinson, Bizet, Rachmaninoff, Grieg, Scott, Tchaikovsky, Rimsky-Korsakoff and Heifetz.

The two piano selections were presented by Kathryn and Annette Sensenig; Marilyn Mosheim and Shirley Kramer; Irene Sensenig and James Creswell, and Ruth Ann Riley and Suzanne Kirby.

A piano trio was presented by Mary Ellen Krantz, Judy Yost and Sandra Flickinger. Others taking part were: Nancy Maloney, Judy Keffer, Shirley Graham, Linda Vanderslice, Marlene Hildebrand, Anthony Pace Jr., Fred Still, Janet Law, Donna Boyer, Bruce Robertson, Jeannette Kully, Terry Shaner.

Don't say to brother, "Why can't you be like your sister?" This probably will only make him resentful.

Alan Botto, Michael Gavin, Emma Freese, all piano.

And, John Fisher, violin; Virginia Dorner, clarinet; Roland Morris, trumpet, and Kenneth Reigner, violin.

Head of PTA Council Installs New Officers Of Jefferson Group

Mrs. Harold Rohn, president of the Pottstown City Council of Parents and Teachers, installed new officers of Jefferson PTA last night at the final meeting of the group in the school.

Installed were: Mrs. Harold Beekley, president; Mrs. Douglas Scheffey, first vice president; Harry Boyer, second vice president; Mrs. Harold Glenney, secretary; and Mrs. Fred Young, treasurer.

Final reports were heard from committee heads: Mrs. Donald Linderman, budget and finance; Mrs. Bryce Manthorne, program; Mrs. Lester Bush, hospitality; Mrs. Scheffey publicity; and Mrs. Harold Kepner, magazines.

MRS. LINDERMAN announced final plans for the annual school festival to be held on the school grounds Wednesday, May 28. Refreshments will be available, and a fish pond will be among the festival booths. An added attraction will be pony rides.

Mrs. Beekley, who presided at the business session, announced the attendance award winners as: primary, Mrs. Adeline Measley; and intermediate, Mrs. Jack Kinney.

Summer roundup chairman, Mrs. George Slack, announced that children may register on Thursday of this week, next Monday, or on Tuesday, June 3.

The executive board of the PTA will entertain the school faculty at a luncheon early in June, it was announced.

After the business session Mrs. Manthorne introduced the Manthorne players, who presented a short play, "The Child Wonder," and refreshments were served by Mrs. Bush and her committee.

Election of Officers Is Held by Auxiliary Of Salvation Army

Election of officers was held by the auxiliary of the Salvation Army which met last night in the citidel. Results of the election are as follows:

Mrs. Frances Leh, president; Mrs. Ruth Linton, vice president; Mrs. Betty Hallman, second vice president; Mrs. Leta Gaul, secretary; Mrs. Ella Snell, assistant secretary; Mrs. Cora Beacraft, treasurer and Mrs. Laura Sassaman, corresponding secretary.

Twelve tables will be set for a birthday party to be held on May 26. Mrs. Effie Saylor will be mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Linton will have charge of the hospitality committee. A skit will be given by a group of members.

William Kline Is Feted On Birthday Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Kline, Pottstown RD 1, recently feted their son, William George Kline, on his first birthday anniversary.

Green and yellow was the color scheme used throughout the party. One rosette candleholder and candle topped the large white, green and yellow cake on the center of the party table. Overhead, the ceiling was covered with green and yellow streamers and many colorful balloons.

After the games were played, refreshments were served. Judith Ann Rhoads and Emery David Grady were winners of prizes for the games.

Others attending were: Ronald Rhoads, Walter Schell, William Kinckner, Barbara Fritz, Mary Ann and Richard Jones, Judy and Beverly Hallman, Caryl Kay Strong, Eddie and Frank Reynolds, Susan Lindermuth, Leonard Miller, Cheryl Stone, Sharon and Nancy Kline and David Allen Sailer.

Adults present were: Mrs. Betty Rhoads, Mrs. Ann Grady, Mrs. Jane Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard I. Miller, Mrs. Gloria Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin C. Sailer, Mrs. Mamie Kline and Miss Rosella Riegel.

A cold shower is good for that tired feeling after working hours.

Summer Activities Slated By Local Scout Council

A program of Summer activities for Pottstown Girl Scouts was discussed last night at a meeting of the Pottstown Council of Girl Scouts in the YWCA building.

Mrs. George P. Rowland, established camp chairman, announced that 28 girls had been registered in Scout camps in this vicinity, and that 16 other girls would like to go if accommodations can be secured.

Approved were the Summer plans of Troop 10 of Trinity Reformed church. This troop has scheduled activities for once each week from June 12 through Sept. 4. Included are swimming parties, watermelon party, treasure hunt, campfire, hikes, doggie roasts and a scavenger hunt.

ARRANGEMENTS are being made for several activity days sponsored by the Council, and under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Leiser.

The following leaders were approved: Mrs. Douglas Scheffey, Mrs. Gordon Istenes and Mrs. Vincent Switzer, Brownie Troop 11; Mrs. Bernice Dunlap and Mrs. Harold Warner, Brownie Troop 19 of Trinity Reformed church.

Mrs. Harold Binder was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for an outdoor supper meeting for the council in June. Assisting her will be Mrs. C. S. Hoffman.

Mrs. Adam F. Saylor, commissioner, conducted the meeting. Others present besides those mentioned above were Mrs. Albert Erb, Mrs. Raymond Blegen, Mrs. Harry Neyenesch and Mrs. Charles Lichtenwalner Jr.

Girls of Troop 21 Enjoy Sunnybrook Doggie Roast

A doggie roast was held by the Brownies, Troop 21, of St. Aloysius Catholic church.

The girls met in front of St. Aloysius school recently and from there hiked to Sunnybrook where the doggie roast was held. Games were played and prizes were awarded to the winners Geraldine Prior, Janie Barber, Alice Marie Bunt and Joan Sork.

Brownies present included: Julia Spoehr, Rosaline Piazzi, Ruth Cole, Kay Work, JoAnne Carelli, Alice Marie and Kathleen Bunt, Gloria Stinger, Linda Marchek, Susan McDonough and Patricia Linderman.

Guests on the hike were: Barbara Houck, Patricia Prior, Virginia Barber, Barbara Marchek, Paul Linderman and Mrs. Pearl Marchek Jr.

Mrs. Gerald Prior and Mrs. Donald Linderman were leaders accompanying the girls on the hike.

Singer Johnny Ray Embraces Future Wife

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP) — Johnnie Ray, the singer with the built-in-crying jag, flew into the arms of his fiancée today.

"The only tears I have are of joy," he said as he stepped from a plane at La Guardia field after a flight from Cincinnati.

Pretty Marilyn Morrison, daughter of a California night club operator, rushed across the field to embrace him with a lingering kiss.

Mrs. Charlotte Rossiter and Mrs. Ruth Breuninger were new members taken in last night.

A picnic to be held at Mrs. Cora Beacraft's, Sanatoga, was scheduled for June 16.

See Your Child Grow with WONDER BREAD!

Let The 8 Elements in Wonder Bread Help Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways!

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, and Fish 8 Ways (as shown at right)

The rate at which your child will develop—mentally as well as physically—depends largely upon the KIND of foods you serve.

This means a well-balanced diet—exactly what many children fail to get.

A recent survey of 9,543 children disclosed the shocking fact that 4 out of 5 are not well fed according to the standards of The National Research Council.

Is there any excuse for this? Very little.

Because these common foods supply ALL the essential food elements your child needs each day: Meat, bread, milk, eggs, fruit, yellow and green-leafed vegetables.

Good for Growth and Energy

As shown in the chart, Wonder Bread is very valuable—because it helps your child grow bigger and stronger. 8 ways.

Growing children need TWICE the protein per pound of body weight as grownups.

Penny for penny, Wonder Bread gives your child more body-building protein than the average of meat, milk, fish and eggs.

And Wonder Bread is a substantial energy food. More quickly converted into energy than fat.

Helps Build Stronger, Bigger Bodies 8 Ways

The chart shows the 8 body and brain-building properties of Wonder Bread.

Serve Wonder Bread with meat, fish, eggs, milk, fruit and both yellow and green-leafed vegetables in a balanced diet to supply ALL the food elements your child must have for healthy growth.

8 ounces of Wonder Bread for a growing child cost less than a dime a day. You can afford Wonder Bread for your child.

Doubly Fresh

Children love Wonder Bread. Plain or toasted. Because Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it. Because slow-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

Get economical Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today. Watch your child grow with Wonder Bread.

$1252 Donated In One Night For Park Group

Two-hundred volunteer workers braved rainy weather last night to collect more than $1252 in a door-to-door solicitation for the Memorial Park association.

President Edward J. Sweeney announced that the $1252 turned into campaign headquarters represents about 80 percent of the amount collected last night, and estimated that the one-day total would top $1300 when ward captains have turned in all contributions.

Three-hundred workers were scheduled to participate in the annual drive, including volunteers from the PTA, League of Women Voters, Knights of Columbus auxiliary, and Newcomers club.

Rainy weather, however, kept one-third of the volunteers at home, and the 200 that showed up were forced to cover more houses than was originally planned.

RESIDENTS were approached from 6 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. for contributions, and those that donated a dollar or more were made voting members of the association.

"Our door-to-door campaign result was equal to that of last year," said chairman William Lamb Sr. "We're optimistic that the special gifts contributions from business and industrial firms will help us reach our $12,000 goal."

Lamb said the association is counting on receipts from the annual festival during the week of June 30 to put the campaign over the top.

The association will concentrate on special gifts contributions for the remainder of the month.

The past year $8000 was raised in the annual campaign for funds to maintain Memorial park.

trols were relaxed, but said that business has leveled off to normal. Under Regulation "W," customers for household items had to make a down payment of 15 percent and pay the remainder in 18 months. The down payment in most stores offering credit has been reduced to 10 percent or lower, with the 18-month limit remaining.

"People may buy things sooner than they expected because of the lower down payment," said one manager, "but over a period of a year, I don't think it's going to create many more sales than usual."

A credit manager of a large furniture store reported normal sales, adding, "With talk of a steel strike, customers are holding on to their money."

MOST JEWELRY stores reported little or no effect on sales because of relaxed credit controls, since most of the merchandise is priced below $100, the former Regulation "W" minimum for controls.

One large appliance dealer thought it was a healthy sign that residents had not rushed out to buy merchandise when controls were relaxed.

"We think it's good business for our customers to be able to afford the things they buy, and be able to pay for them in a reasonable time. We don't want the kind of business where the person puts little or nothing down, and takes a couple years to pay."

The business man added, "In fact, if a bunch of customers had rushed into our store as soon as Regulation 'W' was lifted, it would have scared me."

2, a World War II veteran who has been working in the aluminum department for about two years. This is his first bid for union office.

KEFFER HAS BEEN a diemaker for the past 17 years and was a die shop steward for 10. He was nosed out by Howard G. "Jeff" Hartenstine in the 1950 race for presidency, then the past year won by a wide margin in his race with Gustav H. Schade Jr., a former president.

John Deegan and William Firth are vice president candidates. Joseph Mack, vice president for the past seven years, did not seek re-nomination. Firth now is guide.

For recording secretary, nominees are William Swavely and Frank Pachik, the incumbent.

Gerry Reitnauer, John Schorber and Ulysses Sevast are running for financial secretary, a post held for the past six years by John Linderman.

Linderman and Thomas Widger are opponents for chief steward. August Krause holds this post now. Widger held it two years ago.

"WILLIAM SCHUTT and Lewis East are candidates for the treasurer's job now held by Charles Noll.

For a three-year term as trustee, Charles Hoffman, incumbent, is unopposed.

Arthur Hodge, John Wassiluck, Theodore Capniarek and Gerry Yergler are candidates for the new post of assistant chief steward.

Running for sergeant-at-arms are Stanley Miller, the incumbent, and Samuel Randazzo. Stanley Mackewicz, Schade and Ed Monaghan are nominees for guide.

The highest candidate in the race for posts on Doehler council will be named representative; the second highest, alternate.

Candidates are: skilled division, John Gallagher, now representative; Howard Evans, now alternate, and Fernley Murray; production division, Morris Brunner, Martin J. Bauer, Norman Badrow and Arthur Dey. Yergler was this division's representative.

Serving on the election board with Hoffman will be Charles Hartenstine, Robert Diener, Charles Kulp and Russell Gabel.

Manufacturers' Officers and Guests

best because "this precludes the possibility of all-out war."

He then informed them of four principles of "the rule book" businessmen must follow if they wish to compete successfully for the remaining two of every three dollars of national income which the Government leaves the public.

"Perhaps the significant thing for Americans to grasp is that for the first time in our history we are embarked upon maintaining a great military establishment in what is theoretically peace time," he said.

BECAUSE OF this, he added, the Government alone will spend one-third of all our income.

Dr. McFarland said the rule books governing American business were thrown away ten years ago when World War II began because there were numerous goods shortages and, he implied, rules were considered unnecessary.

"In this new situation," he continued, "we must go back and learn our fundamentals. If we are going to stay in the game under these new conditions, we are going to play the rules as we have never had to do before."

He said the problem is more difficult now because "so many of our people never heard the rules and so many more have forgotten them." Those who never heard the rules, he added, are the younger people and those who have forgotten them in the past 21 years are those who experienced the depression and its lack of jobs and the war period when there was an abundance of jobs.

The principles he outlined are: 1. "We must teach people again that you do not stop looking for work after you find a job. We must get back the concept of total responsibility, make employees realize each person in an organization is responsible for the welfare of the entire organization and the organization's welfare is inextricably bound up with that of each person in it."

2. "We must remember that when we pitch the hot potatoes to someone else, we usually lose the gravity too. If we are going to develop people in our organizations who are competent to compete in the fast-moving hour in which we live, then we must have people of personal power and stature."

3. "We must always look for reasons why we can do things instead of reasons why we can't."

4. "We must remember that there is no market for cynicism."

HE LIKENED the rules, which he indicated will polish up a business' old attitudes, to repeated painting of a white house to keep it white. He said the rules will help the manufacturers compete successfully "in the totally unprecedented conditions under which we are now destined to operate."

An election committee report disclosed all the association's officers including Second Vice President Herbert S. Eades of the Pottstown Machine company, had been re-elected.

The other officers are President Philip L. Corson, Plymouth Meeting; First Vice President Knowlton D. Montgomery, Lansdale; Treasurer John S. Carter, Norristown; and Walter A. Kner, Norristown.

Of 24 members of the executive committee re-elected, seven were from the Pottstown area. They are Howard W. Bartholomew, Doehler-Jarvis corporation, Pottstown; Paul Brooke, The Floyd-Wells company, Royersford; Roger S. Firestone, Firestone Plastic company, Pottstown; Edward D. Gudebrod, of Gudebrod Bros. Silk company, Pottstown; Fred O. Heller, Royersford Needle Works; Robert R. Titus, Synthane corporation, Oaks, and Andrew E. Vaughan Jr., Vaughan Knitting company, Pottstown.

MANY OF the companies from the Pottstown area represented in the association had many of their supervisory employees attend the banquet as their guests.

Area concerns represented last night in addition to those mentioned were Apex Hosiery company, Spring City; The Boss Manufacturing company, Kalm; Cann and Saul Steel company, Royersford; Royersford Foundry and Machine company; Clover Leaf dairy, Named to the committee were Lester Brown, Bard E. Rosenberry, Henry Dozier, Linwood Bechtel and Peter Fox.

The date of the local election will be set by the election committee after it has been approved. It is expected the election will be held in the latter part of June.

Reports were given at the meeting by Dilliplaine, Hartman and Schulz, who were delegates to the international convention in Philadelphia a week ago.

Bechtel, who is chairman of the local's baseball committee said a practice session the past Saturday disclosed some good material for the team the local plans to sponsor. Bechtel was authorized to ob-

Persons alert seldom get hurt!

ALERTNESS IN CROSSING
STREETS should be instilled into every child. Teach yours to cross at the proper places, always—and on the proper signals.

ALERTNESS AT THE PLANT
means, among other things, keeping a wary eye cocked overhead. Always stand clear when heavy materials are being hoisted. It pays!

ALERTNESS WHILE DRIVING
makes a railroad crossing as safe as your own street corner. Never assume a train isn't coming; never try to beat one. Observe the railroad's warning—literally STOP, LOOK, and LISTEN—and live to give the same advice to your grandchildren. You owe it to your family to keep safe.

Births

A son was born of Mr. and Mrs. James Duckworth the past Wednesday in Memorial hospital, Colorado Spring, Colo.

Mrs. Duckworth is the former Marian June Bartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bartman, Boyertown RD 1. Duckworth is a staff sergeant in the Air Force and is stationed in Colorado Spring.

Mrs. Bartman is presently visiting the couple and expects to stay for a few weeks.

Rev. Repsher Is Guest In New Berlinville Home

The Rev. Donald R. Repsher, pastor of Zion's United-Brethren church, New Berlinville, was a dinner guest on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Schoch, New Berlinville.

There was no evening worship service in the New Berlinville church so the members could travel to Grace Evangelical church, Telford, and attend a special musical program. They were greeted by a former local pastor, the Rev. Eziel Pottier, who is the pastor there.

Local church members filled 13 cars for the trip to Telford.

JR. CE CANCELS MEETING

There will be no meeting of the Junior Christian Endeavor of Trinity Evangelical Congregational church tonight as had been originally scheduled.

Bridal Cake Important To Any Reception

fee can. Bake these three layers at 350 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes.

Remove from pans in the same manner as the large layer. Leave 8-inch cakes inverted to cool and frost. Cool small cake top-side up.

While cakes are still slightly warm, spread sides with a thin coating of butter frosting and let stand for several hours, or as long as 24 hours, before putting tier. Add decorations as desired. cake together and decorating it.

This prevents crumbs from getting into final frosting and helps to keep the cake moist and fresh until the next day's frosting. Do not put layers together. Cover with waxed paper and towels.

Use a single recipe of the following butter frosting for this preliminary frosting. Use a double recipe the following day for final frosting and decorating.

BUTTER FROSTING

1/2 cup butter
1 pound sifted confectioners' sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg white, unbeaten
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 teaspoon lemon extract
2 tablespoons light cream, approximately
3/4 cup extra confectioners' sugar for final frosting

Let butter stand at room temperature until soft enough to cream easily. Gradually add about one half the sugar, the salt, egg white and flavoring extracts.

Beat until creamy and smooth. Add remaining sugar, a little at a time. Gradually add enough cream to make frosting a consistency which can be spread smoothly without running off the cake.

TO PUT the cake together, cut 2 rounds of thin white cardboard, one 1/4-inch smaller than the 8-inch pan and one slightly smaller than the coffee can.

Place 12-inch layer on plate on which cake will be served. In the center of the layer, spread a thin layer of frosting the size of the larger cardboard.

Press cardboard firmly into the frosting. Cover with one of the frosted 8-inch layers, frosted surface up. Spread with a layer of frosting and cover with other 8-inch layer, frosted surface up.

SPREAD CENTER of layer with a thin coating frosting and cover with the small cardboard. Cover with top layer of cake, frosted side up.

Frost sides of all three tiers, being sure to completely cover the cake, dipping the spatula in hot water if necessary to smooth frosting. Frost tops of each tier.

To remaining frosting add enough confectioners' sugar to make the frosting stiff enough to force through a cake decorator or pastry tube.

Make a fluting of frosting around the base and top of each long as 24 hours, before putting tier. Add decorations as desired. cake together and decorating it. Yield: 50 to 60 servings.

Wedding Procession Order of Entrance Calls for Men First

The often ticklish problem of who comes first in a wedding procession is easily solved by remembering that in this case it is the man who precedes the woman.

Properly, the ushers go down the aisle first to where the groom and his best man are waiting. Next come the bridesmaids; sometimes in single file, but in larger wedding parties they may properly walk down the aisle two abreast.

If there is a flower girl she will walk after the honor attendant, and just before the bride, with the person who is to give her in marriage.

course, the bride and bridegroom who exit from the church first. When the couple reaches the foot of the aisle the flower girl exits, followed by best man and honor attendant, and bridesmaids, each walking with an usher.

While the bride and bridegroom may rush on to the place of the reception, it is desirable for the families of the bridal couple to remain in the foyer of the church to greet guests and, if necessary, direct them to the reception.

To make a narrow room seem wider, paint the two long walls a lighter shade than the end walls.

Sewer Lien Battle In North End to Go Before Court Sept. 8

The third round in a dogged battle by Dr. J. Elmer Porter to have two sewer liens amounting to $4356 stricken from a 22-acre tract in the North End will come before the Montgomery county court Sept. 8, it was learned yesterday.

A general exception to the findings of the court, which dismissed Dr. Porter's second attempt to have the liens removed the past April 12, was filed by his attorneys recently.

Borough Solicitor C. Edmund Wells, in turn, filed a motion with the court to dismiss the exceptions and permit the ruling to stand. Wells pointed out the only remedy left for Dr. Porter is to appeal to the Supreme court from the decision of the Montgomery county court which sat en banc.

In addition, he contended the exception specifies no reasons or grounds on which it is taken.

THE COURT accepted both the exception and the motion to dismiss it and set Sept. 8 for a hearing on the case.

Dr. Porter has been fighting to have the liens removed from the tract, which he is selling to the Pottstown school district, since they were imposed May 8, 1951. He attacked them on the ground the borough had not received his permission before it laid two sewers through his land.

The court ruled in the borough's favor the past Sept. 27, and ordered Dr. Porter to pay the costs. Instead, his attorneys asked the borough to reduce the liens to final judgment, which would bring the case before the Civil court.

They also attacked the validity of the liens, but the court dismissed the new attack the past April 12.

COURT TOUR —

Mildred J. Huff, was escorted by Horace Davenport to offices of the register of wills, county commissioners, recorder of deeds, prothonotary, sheriff and clerk of courts.

Mrs. Mary Applegarth led the group under the supervision of Von Drach and William Sensenig.

James Miller, a member of McCabe's POD class, said he was convinced after his first session in court that he will like the legal profession.

MILLER, who has been pointing toward a legal career since he entered high school said, "Judge Corson gave an interesting and informative talk on the history of law and the court system. The trip convinced me I should strive to become a lawyer."

Carol Nevenesch, also a member of McCabe's POD class, who is planning to major in either mathematics or foreign languages at either Iowa or Missouri universities next Fall, said after she heard the case in courtroom C, "it was quite interesting, but I would like to have stayed to find out the decision."

J. Edward Whiteacre said, "I was surprised about the lack of formality. I thought everybody would be a little more tense and stiff. I found everyone very friendly and helpful."

A member of McCabe's class, Whiteacre is planning to be a draftsman.

SUE LAROSE, a commercial law pupil in Von Drach's class, said, "It was my first trial and it was about what I expected."

Miss LaRose who will take a job as a clerk in the Security Trust company after graduation next month, said, "I was impressed with the way everyone treated us. The officials were friendly and they seemed to have an interest in informing us."

side of the road.

Filer had just rounded a 90-degree curve to the right. It was midway between the two curves, about 300 feet apart on the crank-shaped road, that the accident took place.

Molettress, who was uninjured in the crash, said he was returning from a trip to New York State. He said if the truck had been loaded he would have been able to hold it on the right side of the road.

Filer, who was driving his father's black, four-door sedan, is a graduate of Kutztown State Teachers' college and has taught at Spring City High school since graduation.

He was driven to Memorial hospital in a Good Will ambulance manned by Paul Kilburn and Robert Roth.

Unmarried, he is the son of Thomas and Kathryn Filer, Northmont, Reading.

THE CAR was nearly demolished. The dash board in front of the steering wheel was sprung back more than a foot. The entire left front of the car was smashed.

The left front fender and left headlight of the big green truck were damaged. Although the truck's fender was forced against the tire, the driver was able to back it close to the side of the road, so traffic could pass the accident scene.

Officers Raymond Miller and John Lutz of the Jeffersonville barracks investigated.

TWO HILLDALE drivers collided a short distance from their homes on Road A, at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred when Gordon G. Baker, Road A, Apartment 23-D, driving a sedan west on Road A, collided with an auto driven by Pauline Walker, Road B, Apartment 34-C.

The Walker vehicle was traveling west on Road A, and was attempting a left turn onto Road B, when it struck the front of Baker's car.

Harry G. Chrusch, chief of police of Lower Pottsgrove township, investigated. There were no injuries.

ARTHUR DeHART Jr., 14, of Phoenixville RD 3, suffered a possible fracture of the knee cap and a laceration of the right knee last night when he was hurled into a ditch from his bicycle after it was struck by a car on Route 23.

The youngster was pedaling home through the rain down Hill Church road at 7:30 o'clock. He was unable to brake his bicycle on the slippery pavement of the hill and hurtled out onto Route 23, directly into the path of a car driven by Lloyd H. Doolittle, 35, of Spring City RD 1.

Doolittle said the youngster came right out in front of him. He was unable to stop and struck him with the right front of his car.

The impact hurled the boy from his bike and tossed him into a ditch at the side of the road. He was taken to Phoenixville hospital where he was admitted for observation and treatment of his injuries.

State Troopers William Petrie and Charles Weber of the Paoli barracks investigated.

A FALLING object which distracted the attention of a Wilkes-Barre woman caused her to lose control of her car yesterday morning and hit a parked car in front of 114 Chestnut street.

Catherine Catanzariti, Wilkes-Barre, said something fell from the sun visor of her coupe and caused her to lose control of her car. She struck a parked car owned by Wayland Schatz, 973 Warren street.

GERALD J. PRIOR, 38, of 615 North Evans street, a former member of Pottstown board of health, was injured yesterday morning when his car overturned after striking another car on Route 422 at the Reading drive-in theater.

Prior, who was treated in St. Joseph's hospital, suffered brush burns of the knees, and right middle finger.

While being X-rayed he went into shock, but upon revival refused to be admitted.

Police Chief John Horin, of Exeter township, reported Prior struck the rear of a car driven west on 422 by J. C. Mumma, 59, of Stony Creek Mills RD 1. Mumma was uninjured.

Horone said Mumma had slowed at the theater because two men were planting shrubbery there and had their truck parked close to the highway.

When Prior topped the hill in the highway he was unable to slow

North Evans street.

Although Pender is only 27, he's no newcomer to the business.

When he was 7 years old, Pender began "assisting" Lindauer. When he was 12, he became a genuine assistant, and he worked at the garage until World War II, when he joined the Merchant Marine.

Pender left an oil tanker the past April to come home for a wedding in the family. "I intended to go back," Pender said, "but then Dick and I got together."

The garage building was a stable a half-century ago. Before Lindauer took it over, it was the site of a used furniture business conducted by Daniel Freese.

THE FIRST PLACE to provide, indoor, by-the-hour parking on any sizeable scale, the parking garage got off to a slow start, Lindauer recalled. He sometimes stayed open 11 hours in those first days to have one or two cars park.

The garage now handles 40-45 cars at a time.

The 47-year-old fire chief was born in Royersford, brought here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lindauer, when he was about 9.

After working in Pottstown area plants, he was a house painter for 13 years.

Meanwhile, he'd climbed the fire ladder, starting as a 21-year-old member of Empire Hook and Ladder company, becoming driver, then company chief. He was assistant borough chief for eight years before becoming fire chief.

Among the major fire-safety improvements that have been made so far during his tenure were the installation of an improved fire-alarm system and the borough's adoption of a modern fire code sponsored by The Mercury.

near Wittenmyer's radio store.

Also, he probably knew the family was in the yard when he made this entry.

Harry G. Chrusch, chief of police in Lower Pottsgrove township, is investigating. The Wittenmyers first called Jeffersonville State police who turned over the investigation to Chrusch.

VOGELER TALKS — with the state would imply only one thing—disloyalty to the state.

Vogeler said that his duties in Hungary were to delay the nationalization of the industry which he represented.

After several months of conducting his delaying action, he said, he was prevented with-out warning from crossing the Hungarian border and arrested by the secret police.

Immediately following his arrest he was questioned for almost 72 hours during which time he was allowed to sleep for only an hour and a half and, given no food, I was supposed to be a member."

Vogeler stated.

BUT THE speech he had written did not denounce the United States enough to please the Communists, he continued, and they wrote one of their own on 60 typewritten pages for him to sign, and submitted to him a list of 23 questions and answers which he was to memorize for a final rehearsal which would be his "trial."

In a mock trial, Vogeler was found guilty and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment.

Seventeen months later, he was released.

After his release, Vogeler said that he "was shocked to find we had to pay ransom for my release."

When asked whether we could not demand of Russia the release of William Ottis, of the Associated Press, or close up the Russian embassy in Washington, D. C., Vogeler replied that he did not to pursue.

Your Crowning Glory May Have Attracted That Future Husband

Hair is more than a woman's crowning glory—sometimes it is an invitation to a proposal of marriage. More than one man has confessed that a woman's locks have turned the hand that holds Cupid's darts.

If you do not believe that your hair could be important in correlating that man, visit a wig maker and experiment with new shades and styles of hairdos. Try them all and see what a difference it makes in your mirror.

One perfect example came to attention recently. At a costume party, a girl looked enchanting as a southern belle, chiefly because of her hairdo. Her hair was done in a shiny, beautiful arrangement that looked as if it were lacquered in place. When complimented about the beauty of her girlish blonde hairdo, the lady removed it, showing that it was a wig. In doing so, she aged 20 years, revealing her own brown and white hair, which was stringy and lifeless.

If a woman of 45 can look 25 because of a wig, why don't more older women dress their hair in youthful hair styles? And if enough hair of their own is not available to do a charming coiffure, then why not employ hair pieces where they are needed to fill out thin areas?

A woman who improves her appearance by wearing a transformation is more to be admired than criticized. Many bald men wear toupees, and they wear them because more hair improves their appearance and makes them look younger. Why shouldn't women do the same thing if necessary?

Women will wear all the artificial beauty props from false bosoms to false eyelashes, and no not late the growth. Coif it to suit the even draw the line at padding out a shape of your face, and to play up skinny hipline. But when someone suggests that a manufactured head of hair would be an improvement on their own, they are aghast. They hold on to the few wisps of hair that are left, trying to work them into an interesting pattern.

Your hair will get sparser as you grow older. Guard it as your most cherished possession. Keep it clean and nourished. Brush it to stimulate the growth. Coif it to suit the even draw the line at padding out a shape of your face, and to play up skinny hipline. But when someone

Daily Exercise Seems Like Hard Work But It's Necessary for Health, Beauty

Regular daily exercise seems to appeal to few women, and it is a pity and a shame. About the musculature they seldom give a thought and it is the strong, resilient musculature that creates the svelte shape. It is also a pretty good guarantee against adipose billows and a waistline that follows a policy of expansion. The beauty upkeep in money is something terrific. Yet a ten-minute workout every day costs nothing at all and means that the figure will remain youthful.

There is a strong relationship between exercise, health and alluring beauty. It isn't always possible for a girl or woman to find time for outdoor sports, but even the busiest one can spare a short period of time before or after the bath. Calisthenics speed up circulation, give one a sense of well-being and have a definite effect upon the complexion, creating pleasing color that beats the rouge compact all hollow.

Here is a simple exercise. It will whittle excess fat off the abdomen and thighs, all along the mid-section where the first invading fat cells form their adipose tenements. Lie on your back. Lift the legs slowly, lower them slowly. Do that ten times to get your muscle engines working. Then, lift legs as high as you can.

When presenting a gift to a new bride and groom, it's proper to have it sent to their home or to the place where their reception is being held. Never give it to them while they are receiving guests in the church.

Tuck a piece of chalk in your handbag for use in keeping your white shoes clean while traveling or at work.

Keep Eyebrows Natural For Soft, Feminine Look

A famous make-up specialist says that the natural eyebrow design makes a much younger-looking eye than that skimpy little streak that performs as an understudy for the real growth.

If you are a demon plucker, stay your hand. Note the movie stars. They have reformed as eyebrow teasers. The trouble with the narrow, lifted pattern is that it is severe. It makes the face look brittle.

Another common slip is tweezing so that the space between the eyebrows is too wide. That practice can throw the features out of harmony.

Another crime against these forehead scimitars is failure to remove powder from them. The eyebrow brush should be used daily, no matter how scanty the growth. The brushes should carry a little brillianine to provide gloss and to march in line.
